HILTON U. BROWN

THE Board of Directors of Butler live in the hope that 1925 will see a substantial beginning of our new building enterprise in Fairview. As the policy of the Board is to keep free from debt, we shall not break ground until there is actual money in sight to take care of the work entered upon. We have a snug sum ready for building operations, but it is common knowledge that building costs are very high, and the Board is not disposed to plunge. However, the Fairview site is all paid for; we have taken possession of the ground and have a property there that we believe to be worth a million dollars already. The purchase price paid, $200,000 cash, was only a fraction of the value of the ground, the rest being in the nature of a donation. The building plans completed by Robert Frost Daggett and his assistant, Thomas E. Hibben, exceed in beauty even our fondest expectations.

A little patience and we shall have a plant at Fairview that will be worthy of Butler, of the city and of the state.

Hilton U. Brown

ALWAYS LOOKING OUT FOR BUTLER

J. W. ATHERTON

ONE outstanding thing that gives us hope and encouragement in the effort to provide for the Butler of the future is the enthusiasm, assistance and liberality of Butler's friends. Shortly after the first of this year, William G. Irwin and his sister, Mrs. Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, offered to give $300,000 to a building fund for Butler on the condition that an additional $700,000 be donated by the end of the year. This challenge will be accepted. Several important contributions have been inspired by the example of Mr. Irwin and Mrs. Sweeney, and we have reason to believe that the goal will be reached before the year ends.

Thomas E. Hibben, assistant to Robert Frost Daggett, who has been employed as architect for the new college buildings, has been in England, studying the architecture of educational institutions. Some of the old world ideas, combined with the new, will be worked out in connection with the collegiate Gothic design to be followed in the new Butler structures. The new site, at Fairview Park, has been declared to be ideal in every detail. Butler promises to have the most beautiful grounds in America.

During the year a general campaign will be conducted, at which time all friends of Butler will be given an opportunity to contribute to the building and other funds. That the call will be met with generous responses on all sides is indicated by preliminary gifts. We are certain that the alumni, students and friends will give liberally and promptly as the importance of the cause they are supporting is realized.

WORKING FOR A GREATER BUTLER

ROBERT J. ALEY

BUTLER COLLEGE has a long, honorable and consistent history. Those responsible for the institution laid a foundation that was broad, deep and liberal. From the opening day of the institution to the present hour, the faculty has been composed of able, scholarly, Christian teachers—the peers of the best in the college world. Good work, high standards and splendid ideals have been the objects sought by directors, teachers and students.

The new Butler at Fairview, with a campus of unsurpassed beauty and a plant of buildings, the product of superior architects, will offer facilities, conveniences and opportunities, not even dreamed of by students of the earlier days. The future is big with promise. The full realization of this future will appear if we profit by the lessons of the past and use to the utmost the opportunities of the present. The past is secure in history, the present is moving on by hard work, and the future is pregnant with hope.

Robert J. Aley

THE BEST PRESIDENT IN THE COUNTRY

J. W. PUTNAM

THE great growth in student enrollment at Butler within recent years has both extended her opportunity for service and placed upon her the burden of providing an adequate training for the increasing numbers, seeking here their preparation for life's responsibilities. An enlarged teaching staff and an expanded and enriched curriculum have necessarily followed. To the departments and disciplines of other days, courses in Business Administration, Education, Home Economics and Journalism have been added.

But expansion in student attendance and in curriculum do not tell the whole story of recent development. Numbers are not the most significant thing about an institution of learning. The character and quality of work done are of primary importance. Butler is fortunate in her record of past achievement, but she looks forward to greater accomplishment in the days to come. The "grade point" system has raised the general level of scholarship in the graduating classes, and the honorary scholastic society, Phi Kappa Phi, has contributed to the same result. In addition to these incentives, the system of "honors" enables the capable high grade student to accomplish a worth while piece of work in his special field of scholastic endeavor. Past tradition and present interest unite in impelling Butler to the maintenance of high scholastic standards.

THE FRIEND OF EVERY STUDENT

WOMEN

EVELYN MITCHELL BUTLER

THIS office attempts to safeguard the interests of the women students of Butler and, in addition, to strengthen the unity of campus life by encouraging and promoting the "all college" type of activities. Here in room 12 are held student conferences and committee meetings, in which plans are developed for the Woman's League, Chimes, May Day, matinee talks, the activity point system, class teas, "all college" formals and for such publications as the Handbook, the Directory and, most cherished of all, the College Song Book.

In this office may be found listed the student organizations with their officers, available scholarships and loan funds; suitable boarding places; student and faculty committees; also the Student Events Calendar and a file of all women students with addresses, activities and recitation schedules.

The work of women students has been rendered much more efficient by this provision of a dean of women's office for definite headquarters where their plans may be formulated, abetted and preserved to become part of college tradition. The spirit of the students of Butler has been an unflinching support and inspiration in carrying on plans to unify and strengthen life on our campus.

SOLVER OF COED PROBLEMS

SARAH E. COTTON

PROBABLY no one can realize more than the Registrar, the rapid growth of Butler. The routine of keeping records has increased enormously within the past few years. To be specific, ten years ago (1914-15) our enrollment was 343. This year our grand total is 1,483, an increase of more than 300 percent.

As the University expands it behooves the Registrar to become more and more alert, seeing to it that the machinery is in such condition that at a moment's notice the records may be available for the student and for the administrative officers, whose duty it is to guard the general welfare of the students. If we succeed in attaining this ideal, this department will serve its real purpose—that of a link between the administration and the students—and will also be in accord with the efficient management of our Board of Directors and the program followed by our faculty.

With increased facilities that will come with the removal of Butler to Fairview, the possibilities of service of this department will be increased to the realization of our ideal.

Seniors

Seniors Seek Finishing Touch

DETERMINED to get the proverbial finishing touch, three hundred of us chose Butler as the training ground for a degree. We presented our credentials to Miss Cotton. Some of us paid our tuition, but all of us began a new life. We passed through the usual period of knocks that are well known to all verdant beings and organized as the Class of 1925, with Hughes Updegraff as president; Ruth Fromm, vice-president; Mildred Foxworthy, secretary, and Arthur Black, treasurer.

The first year went by quickly. We re-entered school in the fall of 1922 as cocky as a second lieutenant. We elected Gerald Woods, president; Mary Patia Carver, vice-president, and Fred Schultz, secretary and treasurer. Besides attending classes and participating in school activities, we licked the Freshman army.

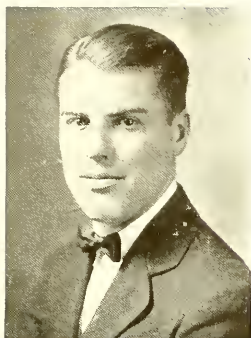

As Juniors two of the biggest jobs in school fell on our shoulders, namely, the publishing of the DRIFT and the throwing of the Junior Prom. Paul Habbe edited the publication while George Ostheimer looked after the business end. It was one of the best annuals ever published by a Junior class. The Prom was a brilliant social function, held at the fashionable Indianapolis Athletic Club on April 18, 1924. Anna Mae Albershardt, Prom queen, and Glenn Duttonhaver, president of the class, led the grand march. The other Junior officers were: Dorothea Varntz, vice-president; Helen Gandall, secretary, and George Ostheimer, treasurer.

Returning last fall as supposedly serious-minded Seniors, we began our last lap for the proverbial finishing touch. We took possession of the Senior walk with pride. As the months rolled by, we thought we were about the most comfortable class in school, but when we stepped out in our caps and gowns for the first time on Founder's Day, we lost some of our ease.

On March 27, we produced a Senior vaudeville for the benefit of our exchequer. It was a financial success, due to the efforts of George Gamble, Eugene Colway and George Schumacher as stage hands and managers.

Now we are on the eve of receiving our diplomas, and we realize that a degree is by no means a finishing touch. We have much to learn. Of course, we regret to leave Butler that is soon to be a greater Butler, but we, the three score and tenth graduating class, must make room for the seventy-first.

However, we would like to know just what will become of the Y. M. C. A. without Paul Habbe; the Y. W. C. A. without Irene Scuel; dramatics without Catherine Cavins, Constance West, Daisy Schulz and Mildred Stilz; Scarlet Quill without Margaret Schoener, Elizabeth Bertermann and Katharine Lennox; Sphinx without Robert Bull; Collegian without Frank Trost; oratory without Doyle Mullen; athletics without Hal Griggs, Nig Woods, Robert Blessing, Scott Ham and Rilus Doolittle; Butler without the wise cracks of Jerome Bash, the frequent laughs and cute sayings of Louise Padou, the publicity of John Metzger, the capability of Patia Carver, Culver Godfrey and Victor Twitty, and the scholastic achievements of the new Phi Kappa Phi members. The writer could name the whole class, but the following pages will depict what the Seniors have done in Butler life during the past four years. However, Butler will go on just the same and there will be others to take our places.

He who wishes to fulfill his mission must be a man of one idea, that is, of one great overmastering purpose, overshadowing all his aims, and guiding and controlling his entire life.

BATE

Juniors

Juniors Use Hackneyed Expression

MUCH less than three score and ten years ago, in fact sixty-seven years less, we members of the Class of 1926 began our college career under the colors of blue and white. Despite the fact that sixty-nine Butler Freshman classes had trials and tribulations, we did not. However, do not misunderstand us. We mean that we got into plenty of trouble, but our Freshman English teachers would not permit us to call the disagreeable part of our first year trials and tribulations because the expression is hackneyed. Anyway, we had 'em, are having 'em and will continue to have 'em. We realize that they are part of the old game of life and are incentives to success.

As a class, we have done very little compared to what these other sixty-nine have said they have done. However, if you will permit us to disregard that which people like—modesty—we will proceed to tell you about ourselves.

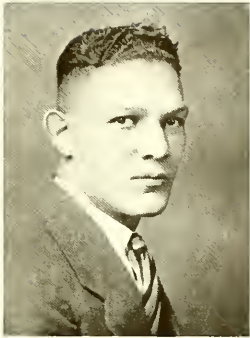

In 1922, we elected Robert Nipper president; Justine Halliday, vice-president; Sarah Frances Downs, secretary, and Arnold Davis, treasurer. They did their duties as officers nobly until the fall of 1923 when we made Gordon Paul, president; Marjorie Chiles, vice-president; Dorothy Reynolds, secretary, and Brewer Graham, treasurer. In 1924, we made another good selection which is evident on the opposite page.

We won the Freshman-Sophomore scrap the two years in which we were eligible to compete. We subscribed for the Butler endowment, got into activities, went to class and cut. As a matter of fact, we did all those things for which students are condemned and praised.

We have made good grades, too. Did you notice the “editorial we” which is often used when a few I's would be sufficient? Some of us members of the “editorial we”, because of the law of averages or of the lack of intelligence, have obtained letters on our cards that are exactly like number six of the alphabet. However, we console ourselves by realizing that some class averages would not have run true to form, were it not for us.

In the past year, we have felt more responsibility than formerly. Two of the biggest activities of the school, namely the 1925 Prom and DRIFT, were given to us to put over. The former was a success and an event that will be remembered by all who attended, and the latter is now in your hands for approval.

Before we begin our Senior year, it is well for us to stop and consider that it is not the number of activities after our names that counts, but how well are we prepared to give service to others. “It is the rent we pay for the space we occupy in the world”.

To stand with a smile upon your face against a stake from which you cannot get away—that, no doubt, is heroic. But the true glory is resignation to the inevitable. To stand unchained, with perfect liberty to go away, held only by the higher claims of duty, and let the fire creep up to the heart—this is heroism.

Sophomores Discard

IN the fall of 1924, our Freshmen of last year, having completely outgrown their verdant toggerly and habits, returned and began their second year at Butler.

Robert Wakefield was elected the gavel-wielder of the class to succeed Douglas Dale, who functioned in the same capacity during the Freshman year. Edythe Hubbard was chosen vice-president; Jane Currie, secretary, and Joel Wilmoth, treasurer. The last three offices were competently filled during the preceding year by Suzanne Kolhoff, Virginia Foxworthy and Robert Hutchinson, respectively.

The next big event staged by the Class of '27 was in joint collaboration with their under-classesmen whom the Sophs ignominiously walloped in the annual inter-class scrap, held on Irwin Field in the latter part of November. The victory served greatly in the recovery of the second-year folks' self-respect which they lost last year by their defeat at the hands of the Class of '26. The protection of class colors, hoisted aloft the flagpole, was the occasion for the annual egg-throwing encounter, and tattered and rent wearing apparel, dishevelled hair and bloody noses were evidences of heroic participation.

Verdant Toggery

The Twenty-Sevens impressed their fellow-classmates most emphatically this year by their athletic ability, making a substantial contribution to the success of the football team in the persons of Vincent Canfield, Francis Fletcher, Melvin Puett and Ralph Hitch. The class president, Bob Wakefield, and Clarence Christopher did their share in representing the Sophs on the varsity basketball squad. They are a classy pair of forwards. Hermon Phillips has made some splendid track records.

In the less vigorous activities, the Sophomores have contributed their share of participation. In both "The Whole Town's Talking" and "Icebound", many of the leading roles were portrayed by second-year folks, and the Sophomore debating and oratorical talents have also been outstanding during the last school year. Eight Sophomore girls received just recognition for participation in worthy student activities and for splendid college spirit, when they were pledged to the Junior honorary, Chimes, at the annual Gridiron Banquet, held at the Indianapolis Athletic Club on April 6, 1925. The pledges are Lucy Ashjian, Dorothy Avels, Julia Bretzmann, Jeanne Bouslog, Kathryn Bowly, Edith Corya, Dorothy Carroll and Dorothy Kemp.

I consider a human soul without education like marble in a quarry, which shows none of its inherent beauties until the skill of the polisher sketches out the colors, makes the surface shine, and discovers every ornamental cloud, spot, and vein that runs throughout the body of it.

Freshmen Get Into

ENTERING Butler with the distinction of being the largest class in the history of the University, the Freshmen immediately settled down to work and to show the other classes that quality is sometimes parallel to quantity. On October 10, the class met for the first time and elected O. K. McKittrick, president; Frances Peters, vice-president; Bertha Green, secretary, and James Carvin, treasurer.

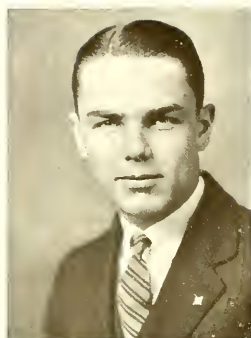

A large number of men reported for football under Coach Hinkle. Although they lost two games by close scores, they were an asset to the members of the varsity and gave them much competition in practice prior to the big games. Eighteen were awarded numerals. They included McLaughlin, captain, Thaug, Holcomb, Garrett, Bell, Green, Collyer, Casey, Franklin, Ball, Wenrick, Cecil, Summers, Wood, Cottrell, Johnson, Leidity and Meek.

After the close of the football season, the Frosh army reported to Pat for the annual scrap. The Sophs were outnumbered by more men than the Confederates in 1861. However, the "Clipping" class took advantage of strategy and won by a narrow margin. Horatius at the bridge would not have had a chance in this battle in which scores of discarded eggs struck Frosh faces with unpleasant sounds.

Many Activities

The Sophomores also won the football games but lost both the ed and coed tug-of-war contests.

In all forms of athletics, the Green Caps have participated during the past year. Twelve men, including Captain Chadd, Bell, Collyer, Jackman, Collier, Zell, Tudor, Thornton, Meek, Eckstein, Summers and Holz, were awarded basketball numerals. Quite a few went out for track and baseball and made good.

In activities, the first year students took much interest. Margaret Jenkins won the oratorical contest; Robert Finney was the only Freshman to make Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debating fraternity; Adrian Pierce, Phyllis Nordstrom, Margaret Jenkins and Elmo Richey took important parts in dramatic club plays, and more than a score of other Freshmen were in the various casts; Louise E. Ross, Joseph Schleen and Paulwirth Waldo reported on the Collegian, Finney was Freshman Assistant on the DRIFT staff, and O. K. McKittrick was in charge of a successful Freshman dance, April 17, to raise money for the endowment drive.

When Butler moves to Fairview, the Class of 1928 will doubtless look back and say the Butler of Yesterday was a grand old school after all.

Whatever you are by nature, keep to it; never desert your line of talent. Be what nature intended you for, and you will succeed; be anything else, and you will be ten thousand times worse than nothing.

Butler—Past, Present and Future

NORTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY

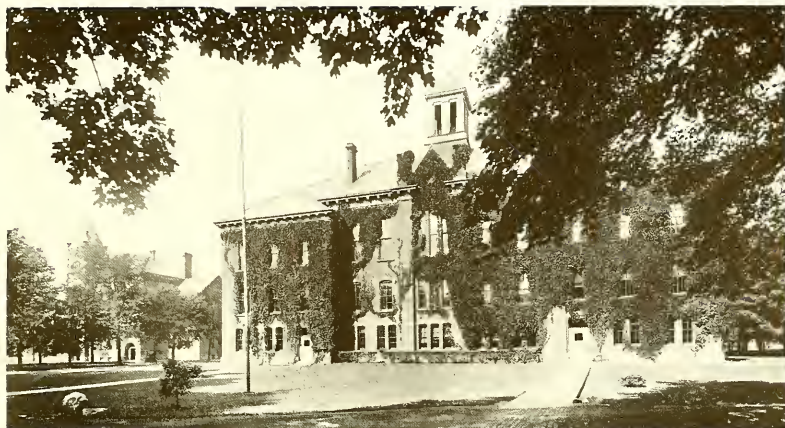

History of Butler University

MORE than three score and ten years ago, in the year 1841, representatives of the Christian Church of Indiana, realizing the meagerness of the state's educational facilities, met and proposed the establishment of an institution of learning for the Middle West. However, no definite action was taken until 1848, at a meeting in Flat Rock. The Presbyterians had already founded Hanover and Wabash; the Methodists, DePauw, and the Baptists, Franklin. The Christian brotherhood, therefore, took a thorough canvass of the churches during the following year and found that the majority were wholeheartedly interested in the new plan. At the Indiana convention of the Disciples of Christ in 1849, the following resolution was passed: "That a Northwestern Christian University be founded at Indianapolis as soon as a sufficient amount of funds can be raised to commence it, and that a committee of seven be appointed at this meeting to take the preliminary steps in reference to the founding and endowing of such an institution."

Foremost among the men who supported the educational movement was Ovid Butler, a very prominent citizen of Indianapolis, who devotedly served the cause of education the greater part of his life. As chairman of the committee of seven, he drew up the charter that was granted by the Indiana Legislature to Northwestern Christian University, January 15, 1850. The following excerpt is evidence that it is one of the most liberal, pious and charitable charters ever granted in the Hoosier state:

"To found and maintain an institution of learning of the highest class, for the education of the youth of all parts of the United States; to establish in said institution departments or colleges for the instructing of the students in every branch of liberal and professional education; to educate and prepare suitable teachers for the common schools of the country; to teach and inculcate the Christian faith and Christian morality, as taught in the sacred scriptures, discarding as uninspired and without authority all writings, formulas, creeds and articles of faith subsequent thereto; and to promote the sciences and arts."

During the following two years the committee was occupied with its assigned task of raising funds for the endowment of the proposed University. A campaign to raise $75,000 by the sale of stock was inaugurated in March, 1850, by Elder John O'Kane. According to the July, 1851 issue of the "Christian Record," a monthly publication of the Christian Church, $25,000 worth of stock was sold within six months.

PRESENT ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

The editor further explained that "Brother O'Kane has not yet visited one-tenth of the congregations and brethren in the state of Indiana and has not, we believe, been out of the state at all. The brethren everywhere see the propriety and even the necessity of such an institution and are only waiting to be called on to take the stock. The brethren in our sister states of Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and perhaps Kentucky will unite with us in building up an institution of learning of the highest order. The point chosen for its location is very favorable. Indianapolis is emphatically the City of Railroads and, of course, easy of access to the whole country. By the time that the institution gets into operation we shall have some six or eight railroads running into the city and two or three plank roads."

By June 22, 1852, the agent secured subscriptions for the entire $75,000, the amount required by the charter before a board of directors could be organized. This success permitted the committee to consider a campus site and building plans. Ovid Butler gave twenty-five acres of wooded land, near the edge of Indianapolis, at College Avenue and Thirteenth Street. The building contracts were let in July, 1853. William Tinsley, an architect from Cincinnati, Ohio, drew up plans for a Gothic structure, three stories in height, with an east and west wing, but the west wing was the only part that was built.

November 1, 1855, Northwestern Christian University opened. This was a great day for Indianapolis and for all the members of the Christian Church, whose diligent labors had made possible better educational facilities for Hoosier settlers. Exercises were held in the new chapel in the afternoon and at the Masonic Temple in the evening to accommodate the many interested citizens and distinguished guests.

The beginning of instruction was deeply significant, for it meant the opening of a university in the great Middle West that admitted men and women of all races. Northwestern's liberal principles were far in advance of those of contemporary schools. Women students were received on the same basis as men; all religious denominations were welcomed, and all students were permitted to elect their own courses. The last was an innovation, attempted previously only at Brown and Bethany.

One hundred and thirteen enrolled the first year under a faculty of five members, consisting of John Young, president and professor of natural sciences and law; Allen R. Benton, professor of ancient languages and literature; George W. Hoss, professor of mathematics and civil engineering; James R. Challen, professor of English, and Love H. Jameson, an assistant professor. All of these were learned teachers, capable of inspiring their students with high ideals of living. They gave graduating exercises for only three the first year. The late Nancy Burns Atkinson was the first woman to finish and one of the first women in the United States to receive a B. S. degree.

Regarding women students, the faculty experienced considerable difficulty in handling situations and deciding questions. Regulations were passed that required young ladies, during recitation hours, to be under the immediate care of the lady professor and to meet men students only in the recitation rooms. Degrees offered to women are described in one of the early catalogues as the "mistress of science degree" and the "degree of mistress of art." The former was conferred upon the completion of a required three-year woman's collegiate course, and the latter was given upon the completion of a regular four-year man's collegiate course.

In the very earliest years of the University, the students had little to occupy their time besides scholastic pursuits. There were no athletic contests, student activities and fraternities. Northwestern in those days was a place for only those who wished to get a college education.

However, the routine of the school was broken up somewhat in 1861. One hundred and eighty-four Northwestern students enlisted in the service of their country after Fort Sumter was fired upon. Academic work was carried on with great difficulty. Camp Morton was located so near the campus that fifes and drums could be heard as the soldiers in blue marched by. In 1863, the attendance decreased to fifty students and one graduate, and disabled soldiers were given free tuition.

It was not long after the war, however, before the University became firmly established again. In 1870, the faculty numbered twenty and the student body, 345. The development of the school was made possible at this time by the endowment of several academic chairs. The first was the Demia Butler chair of English Literature, endowed by Ovid Butler, in memory of his daughter who was the first woman to graduate from the full classical course of Northwestern. This marked the establishment of the first English department in an Indiana college. It was headed by Miss Catharine Merrill, a teacher of rare ability and influence, who was the second woman to hold a position on a faculty of an American college. Dean Evelyn Butler, granddaughter of the donor, holds this professorship at the present time. Other additions included: the Law School in

BONA THOMPSON LIBRARY

1870, the Jeremy Anderson chair in Greek Language and Literature, the Armstrong chair of Germanic Languages, the Reeves chair of Biblical Literature and the Catharine Merrill chair of English Literature.

In 1873, the Board of Directors decided to change the location of the University to Irvington. This decision grew out of the fact that the school was greatly handicapped by an insufficiency of funds and that the College Avenue site could be sold for a good price. Construction began the following year on the Administration Building which was completed in 1875. Instruction began immediately although the dormitory, observatory, power house and gym were not completed until later. At the formal opening, September 15, between 500 and 600 citizens attended the chapel exercises, perhaps in response to the following letter which was sent out by President Burgess for publication in the Indianapolis Journal:

"To the Editor of the Journal:

10 A. M. Rev. Isaac Errett of Connersville will deliver the address. A basket dinner will be served on the grounds, and it is hoped that friends of the University will provide bountifully for the occasion and that none may suffer hunger. A train will leave the Union Station at 9:10 A. M., the round trip being only 25 cents. At Irvington, those having baskets will be met at the depot with conveyances for the same, which will be safely deposited in the building until needed."

The name, Northwestern Christian University, was changed in 1877 to Butler, in recognition of Ovid Butler, who, in addition to giving the school the largest subscription and the College Avenue site, served as president of the Board of Directors for twenty years. He was neither in favor of changing the name nor the location, but his disappointments did not alter his allegiance to the school he founded. His birthday, February 7, was celebrated as Founder's Day for the first time in 1882.

As to student activities, literary societies were the first to creep into the strictly academic life of Northwestern and Butler. Their purpose was to study the arts of conversation, debating and oratory. The Mathesian and Pythonian Literary Societies were both established during the first session of Northwestern; the Athenian Society, in 1867, for women students only; Philokurian Literary Society, in 1869, for ministerial students, and the Demia Butler Literary Society, in 1881. They first met in a professor's lecture room or in a private home but later secured their own quarters at school where they collected libraries. The decreasing interest in literary societies proved fatal to all except the Philokurian, the only survivor of the five.

The Y. M. C. A., which began its existence at Butler in 1887, rapidly developed into an organization of wide influence, due to the general interest in Biblical studies. Several years later, in 1890, its sister organization, the Y. W. C. A., followed.

The advent of national fraternities on the Butler campus also illustrates another aspect of the development of the school. Phi Delta Theta, the first fraternity to enter the school, was established as early as October 22, 1859. The installation of Indiana Gamma was significant because it was the third Phi Delt Chapter in Indiana and the seventh in the United States. Rho Chapter of Sigma Chi was established six years later, in the spring of 1865. Delta Tau Delta came in 1878 and Kappa Sigma, February 17, 1891. Kappa Alpha Theta entered the fraternity ranks in 1874; Kappa Kappa Gamma, in 1878, and Pi Beta Phi, in 1897. Although fraternity life was not given the prominence which it claims today, still the establishment of these organizations on the campus, no doubt, effected a considerable change in college life.

The history of the Butler Collegian dates back to January, 1886. According to an early DRIEF, "it was the outgrowth of a desire among the students to be represented in that field of amateur literature, somewhat circumscribed, but nevertheless, full of spirit and enthusiasm, known as college journalism." The staff, composed of two representatives from each of the five fraternities, published a monthly magazine of much literary content. Its narrow proportions soon expanded into a twenty-four-page magazine that contained as much school news as would be of interest to the outside world, together with prize essays and orations of the classroom. When Butler became affiliated with the Medical, Dental and Law Schools, in 1896, the Collegian changed from a monthly to a weekly. Copy for the new paper, the University Brief, was contributed by a staff from each of the four schools.

The first Butler DRIEF appeared in 1891. The enterprise was undertaken by the fraternities, who formed a "Board of Editors". It was a quaint book of about 100 pages. The aim and number of courses, painstakingly described by the head professor in each of the departments, the crude artwork and the old-fashioned photogravures of the faculty and the few fraternities composed the content of the book. The Senior Class later undertook its publication. However, since 1909, the responsibility has rested with the Junior Class. An interesting collection of these early DRIFFTS can be found in the Bona Thompson Library.

SKETCH OF NEW COMMERCE BUILDING

In 1896, Butler University became one of the four schools of the University of Indianapolis, by virtue of its affiliation with the Medical, Law and Dental Schools of this city, and the Board of Directors adopted the name, "Butler College", rather than "University", to designate the undergraduate department of liberal arts and sciences. The consolidation, which was effected to further the interests of higher education, was quite practical, since the students from the four schools united in all school enterprises. The organization disbanded in 1905.

Athletics have had an equally long and interesting history as these other activities. Football, especially, has been in the swing since 1885, when Butler won the state championship for the first time. It was largely through Butler's efforts that football gained and maintained its great success in Indiana. In the autumn of 1887, the Indianapolis Athletic Association formed a football league, consisting of Indiana, Wabash, Hanover, Franklin and Butler. Baseball did not receive the enthusiasm that football did until later years, even though a state league was formed. Tennis attracted some attention. Doubles and singles were annually played off by the members of the "Racket Club". Bicycling enthusiasts also organized a club for both men and women in 1891. Basketball was later included in Butler's field of sports, but the schedules were much more lenient than today's, just as their outfits were more cumbersome than those of the modern thinly-clads.

Butler was first represented in the Oratorical Contest of Indiana in 1875, fifty years ago, by Samuel J. Tomlinson, '75. Much prominence was formerly given to oratory and debating, and splendid support was given the teams who debated against such schools as DePauw, Notre Dame, Earlham and Wabash. It is interesting to know that Tau Kappa Alpha, which today is one of the prominent national debating honoraries, was founded at Butler College in 1908.

Few Butler students today know that their school was formerly affiliated with Chicago University. During the summer of 1898, the trustees of the two institutions entered into an agreement, whereby every student with a B. A. degree from Butler could receive a B. A. degree from Chicago, upon the completion of one quarter's additional study there. Final examination questions had to be approved by Chicago officials before the Butler faculty could use them. Though the College submitted to certain other regulations, the affiliation did not compromise its independence. The affiliation was dissolved in 1910 by mutual agreement.

Commencement exercises formerly required an entire week, during which time Irvington residents entertained guests at their homes. The five literary societies gave intellectual exhibitions. The Baccalaureate Sermon came on Sunday, the Alumni Banquet on Thursday, and the commencement exercises on Friday. The Seniors read essays and delivered orations.

In 1910, the College of Missions was established in Irvington and immediately became affiliated with Butler. By special arrangements, the students of one may elect courses in the other.

After the United States entered the World War, April 6, 1917, Butler men eagerly entered the service of their country for the third time. At a mass meeting of the men of the College, on March 3, a large majority passed a resolution, providing for temporary, compulsory and universal military training. In a month, a squad of seventy men drilled on Irwin Field under Captain Hurt at 6:30 A. M. and at 3:30 P. M. The campus was immediately converted into a martial-looking government post by the erection of two barracks, a bath house, a mess hall and a canteen. The college curriculum had to be enlarged to offer courses necessary for the 264 soldier-students, as well as the regular students. During the years 1918 and 1919, the College continued as best it could, though the attendance was made up largely of women and underclassmen. Butler women improvised, furnished and regulated a hospital, and the Y. W. C. A. remembered every Butler student in service at Christmas, 1917. The fraternities, besides doing Red Cross work, bought bonds and adopted French or Belgium war orphans. More than 800 Butler men served their country during the world conflict and learned invaluable lessons of sacrifice and of devotion to duty. Memorial services were held on December 14, 1919, in honor of the sixteen who did not return.

The years of readjustment, following the war, have seen an almost phenomenal development in Butler College which is celebrating the seventieth anniversary of its founding this year. The enrollment of the school has increased almost six times in the last decade, and today the Freshman Class outnumbers the entire enrollment of ten years ago. The registration in 1914-1915 records 266 students. By a consistent and gradual increase in attendance, the enrollment of 1924-1925 is 1478, 725 of whom are men and 753 are women.

Dr. Robert Judson Aley now heads a faculty of sixty-one members, which number, when compared with the first faculty group of five and the group of thirty-three in 1918, illustrates the creditable progress of the school. This increase has necessarily taken place simultaneously with the enlargement and addition of college departments. The courses of study, including all subjects leading to the degrees of B. A., B. S., M. A., and M. S., are included in twenty departments and 210 courses. In an attempt to meet the varied and insistent demands of the community and state, Butler has especially increased its courses in Business Administration, Home Economics, Sociology, Journalism, Education and Religion. In the fall of 1924, the Metropolitan School of Music and Fine Arts and the John Herron Art Institute affiliated with Butler.

The few student activities of the old Northwestern University have increased as rapidly as the enrollment, especially in the past few years. Honorary and departmental organizations and fraternities hold the attention of the students in all phases of campus life. In athletics, Butler has made remarkable progress. Pat Page has built up an athletic machine that has caused the name of Butler to be flashed from coast to coast.

However, for several years, the equipment at Irvington has been overtaxed. Consequently, the Board of Directors purchased 246 acres at Fairview in the spring of 1923, at a cost of $200,000 and launched an endowment campaign to raise $1,500,000. It could not have chosen a more ideal site than Fairview with its rolling, wooded ground, extending from Sunset Boulevard to the Canal and White River, and from Forty-second to Fifty-fourth Streets.

The outstanding events in the drive for a better and bigger Butler, during the last twelve months, have included reaching the endowment fund goal, increasing the building fund, completing payment for the new site, adoption of architectural plans for the future plant and the enlistment generally of support for the institution.

Under the direction of John W. Atherton, financial secretary of Butler, the campaign has gone ahead steadily and with gratifying results. The present endowment is $1,073,000, an over-subscription of the original amount sought. One of the notable things connected with the building fund was the start, early this year, to raise $1,000,000 before December 31, 1925, this sum to be used in erecting buildings. William G. Irwin and his sister, Mrs. Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, pledged $300,000 to this fund, providing the remaining $700,000 is raised. Several substantial pledges have been announced since then, and Mr. Atherton is confident the million will be in hand when the year ends.

Full payment has been made for the Fairview Park site and the mortgage was burned with appropriate ceremonies.

Robert Frost Daggett, architect for the new buildings, has worked out pleasing plans in the collegiate Gothic style. His tentative program was accepted by the College authorities. Work on the drawings, plans and specifications is now being pushed, so that they may be submitted to contractors for bids on actual construction.

The Butler Board has set aside ground at the south side of the campus for fraternity and sorority buildings. The sale of lots to the campus organizations is now in progress. Certain restrictions will govern the expense of construction in order to eliminate extravagance and make the homes of equal value. Priority in the selection of lots for fraternities, sororities and other organizations is based on the date of their establishment at Butler.

The building committee has been at work grading the campus and arranging the preliminary program of beautification, preparatory to the beginning of actual building operations. In this connection, the city administration has given hearty and enthusiastic co-operation. It has promised to build a boulevard that will encircle the entire campus and to widen the streets approaching the college grounds.

In every department connected with the work of moving Butler from Irvington to the new Fairview site, satisfactory progress has been made. The task is one that cannot be completed overnight. The authorities realize that they are building for a century or more in the future, and the foundation they lay will provide the basis on which the cultural future of the community will rest.

Butler celebrated its forty-third Founder's Day, February 7, in commemoration of the one hundred and twenty-third birthday of Ovid Butler. Dr. Charles Hubbard Judd, Dean of the School of Education, of the University of Chicago, was the principal speaker of the morning services held in the chapel. His subject was "A New Humanism Suited to the Modern Conditions". Seniors appeared in cap and gown on this occasion for the first time in their collegiate life.

The celebration was concluded by a banquet in the Riley Room of the Claypool Hotel. Speeches were given by Dr. Judd; Dr. Robert J. Aley; Frederick E. Shortemeier, Secretary of State and a Butler graduate; John E. Spiegel, President of the Butler Men's Club; Professor Elijah N. Johnson, Head of the Mathematics Department, and Victor Twitty, Senior representative.

The membership is composed of both fraternity and non-fraternity women who co-operate in the maintenance of a democratic feeling among Butler girls and in the furtherance of school spirit. Two representatives from each of the women's Greek letter fraternities and four from the non-fraternity group are selected to membership at the end of the Sophomore year, so that there is a Junior and Senior representative in the organization at the same time.

Sphinx

A GROUP of Butler Greeks, realizing the need of an organization that would promote and encourage worthy activities of Butler and fellowship among the members of national fraternities, assembled in 1920 to found the Sphinx Club. The charter members were initiated by the ritual of the Wabash Sphinx who in turn had received it from the Indiana Chapter.

Membership into the organization is deemed an honor and is restricted to members of national fraternities who have become outstanding in some form of university life. Meetings are held semi-monthly at the chapter houses where campus problems are discussed. The ensignia of a member is a gold Sphinx head worn below the fraternity pin, and that of a pledge is a black and white ribbon worn in the coat lapel.

Skulls

IN the fall of 1920, Coach Harlan O. Page organized the Skulls Club to support Butler in all branches of endeavor, to promote all worthy campus projects and to form an organized body of men to act as leaders in Butler's activities.

The Skulls is quite similar to Sphinx in that it chooses men who have proven themselves loyal to Butler. However, unlike Sphinx, it does not restrict its membership to members of national Greek letter fraternities. It has done much to promote fellowship among the "B" men.

Meetings are held semi-monthly at fraternity houses. Members are recognized by a Skull watch charm and black and white knitted caps. Pledges are known by a black ribbon worn in the coat lapel.

Scarlet Quill

ONE of the highest honors for a senior girl to attain is to be elected to membership into Scarlet Quill which is restricted to twelve girls who are chosen on the basis of scholarship, activities and personality. The organization strives to support all Butler enterprises, to encourage and recognize high scholastic standards and to assist the faculty in the carrying out of campus traditions.

The goal of Scarlet Quill, since its founding in October, 1921, has been to petition Mortar Board, a national organization with the same purposes and membership requirements. Each year the organization gives a dinner for the Seniors and presents a scholarship to a Sophomore girl who has maintained a high scholastic average. Black felt hats bearing a scarlet Quill is the distinctive garb.

Chimes

CHIMES, an honorary society for junior women, was established April 14, 1924, under the auspices of Woman's league. At that time eight Sophomores were carefully selected on the basis of personality, co-operation and participation in school activities. Eight Juniors were chosen as honorary members, and the pledges were "spiked" with gold and silver ribbons at a clever Gridiron banquet in the Canteen. Initiation was held June 3, when the members received gold pendants in the shape of chimes.

The purpose of the organization is to introduce Freshman girls to campus life. To this end Chimes, aided by Miss Butler, assisted Freshmen on and before matriculation day and has sponsored several successful parties for their benefit.

The Scarf Club

THE Scarf Club is an honorary organization which was started, December 18, 1921, by ten girls. One girl from each sorority and ten unorganized students are chosen once a year for scholarship and character. The purpose of the organization is to promote good fellowship among the Butler coeds. The four officers must be Sophomores.

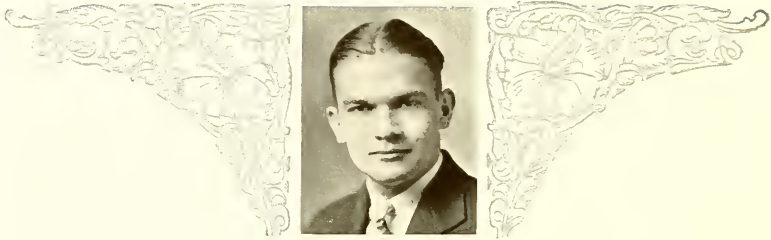

Meetings are held every Monday noon at school, and one supper party is given each month at the home of one of the members. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, baskets of food and toys are taken to those people who are in need of help. Each semester one entertainment is given for all Freshman girls. Miss Nellie Hester and Miss Mary S. McBride are the sponsors.

The officers are: Jeanne Bouslog, president; Dorothy Avels, vice-president; Martha Zoercher, secretary, and Ione Agnew, treasurer.

EDITOR'S NOTE

TO the best of our ability, we members of the staff have striven to give old Butler an annual of which she will be proud. We have tried to portray the Butler of Today, to recall the Butler of Yesterday and to visualize the Butler of Tomorrow. We realize the extent of our task and the meagerness of our ability. Therefore, if we have fallen short in our endeavor, we ask your forgiveness. However, may the 1926 DRIFT staff profit by our mistakes and publish an annual that will win the National Art Craft Guild Contest.

Collegian

BUTLER journalism has made rapid strides during the past year under the direction of Professor Henry Ellis Birdsong who came to Butler last fall from the University of Wisconsin to take charge of the department. He has organized a School of Journalism for the purpose of meeting two general needs of undergraduates: (1) To equip as completely as possible for later practice those students who intend to pursue journalism as a profession, and (2) to afford opportunity for students taking a general Liberal Arts course or other major subjects to gain a practical insight into the history, the purposes, the workings and the ideals of the press, and to acquire facility and precision of expression in writing—no matter in what field. Journalism may now be elected as a major subject toward the A. B. or B. S. degree. Ultimately a B. J. will be granted.

EDITORS AT WORK

ALBERT W. BLOEMKER, ASSOCIATE EDITOR

Collegian

THE COLLEGIAN began its thirty-ninth year, September 26, 1924, as a weekly after having been published semi-weekly the previous semester. The office was removed to Room 4 and equipped to resemble a city office of a regular newspaper. Due to the efforts of Jabez, Joe Gremelspacher and a conscientious staff, the paper appeared semi-weekly after February 10. Professor Birdsong's editing class took over the copy desk and adopted a style sheet the second semester. The Collegian has indeed made rapid progress in '24 and '25, and indications point to a daily in the very near future. One of its feature achievements during the year was the scooping of the Indianapolis News and Times on the Centenary Homecoming football game. The paper was on Irwin Field a few seconds after the final whistle.

Fourth Estate

A DELEGATION, composed of Professor Henry E. Birdsong, Frank Trost, Eugene Clifford, Jabez Wood, Joe Gremelspacher, Robert Swinehart and Thomas F. Smith, attended the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi at Bloomington, November 18, 1924, for the purpose of getting permission to petition in behalf of the Fourth Estate Club. Permission was granted a few weeks later, and the club mailed out formal petitions in the spring to forty chapters and the national officers. No word had been received when the DRIFT went to press.

The club was organized in November, 1923. Its members are chosen from upper-classmen who have been active in journalism on the campus and who expect to go into journalism for a profession. Meetings are often featured by talks from prominent newspaper men and members of Sigma Delta Chi.

Scribblers

THE Scribblers Club is a coed journalistic honorary organization founded for the purpose of petitioning Theta Sigma Phi, a national fraternity. Activity has fallen under different lines, including a stunt given at Senior vaudeville last year, a special May Day edition of the Collegian, assistance at the Press Convention, a journalistic tea for coed members of the Journalism department, Collegian staff and the local Theta Sigma Phi. The crowning achievement was The Christmas Stocking, a humorous magazine, which was both a literary and financial success. The May Day Collegian was also published by the club. Plans are now under way for the presentation of a formal petition to Theta Sigma Phi and the publication of another magazine. Dean Evelyn Butler and Miss Mary Agnes Showalter are honorary members.

Press Club

HERBERT R. HILL, assistant telegraph editor of the Indianapolis News and instructor in Butler's School of Journalism, has made the Press Club one of the most interesting departmental organizations on the campus. He brings practical journalism to the class room direct from the press. His keen insight into the practical problems of newspaper work has contributed to making the one hour course very popular among the students.

Furthermore, newspaper men from the Indianapolis News, the Indianapolis Star and the Indianapolis Times have been kind enough to talk to the club at its weekly meetings throughout the year. The members act in the capacity of reporters by writing up the speeches in regular newspaper style. One hour of college credit is given for one semester's work in the course.

The officers are as follows: (First semester) Eugene Clifford, president; Mary Montgomery, vice-president; Margaret Waters, secretary; Gerald Woods, treasurer; (Second semester) Raymond Ridge, president; Dorothy Kemp, vice-president; Austin Johnson, secretary, and Paul Fink, treasurer.

Y. M. C. A.

THE Young Men's Christian Association is one of the largest men's organizations on the campus. Its purpose is to promote the highest ideals in men's activities. This is being done by gospel deputation teams, by personal interviews, by bringing outstanding men to the campus, by aiding in registration work and by personal contact with students on the campus.

Weekly-noon meetings are held at the University, and monthly banquets are held at the central Y. M. C. A. building. Each year "Y" delegates are sent to Lake Geneva, Wis., for the training conference in order to be better prepared to serve Butler and the ever increasing student body.

The "Y" is here to serve. Can we help you? Let us try!

THE Young Women's Christian Association cabinet was installed, March 18, 1924, and went into office earnest and full of enthusiasm. The advisory board under Mrs. J. W. The feature activity of the year was the Geneva Stunt Day, from which enough money was made to send representatives to the New York and Geneva conferences. However, other work equally significant was accomplished in Social Service, World Fellowship and among the industrial girls of the city.

Sandwich Club

THE Sandwich Club affiliated last month with the Oxford Club of America, a national ministerial organization, to further its purpose of preparing men for Christian service in the ministry, on the foreign fields as Y. M. C. A. secretaries and in other allied activities.

Having organized in 1905, the Sandwich Club has alumni serving as missionaries, ministers and Christian workers all over the world. The charter members include such prominent men as the following: H. H. Harmon, endowment secretary of the Board of Education of the Disciples of Christ, and Cloyd Goodnight, president of Bethany College.

Bi-weekly luncheon meetings are held at the College of Missions, and a social gathering is sponsored each fall for the purpose of promoting a broader acquaintance and fellowship among the students of both Butler and the College of Missions. A number of the members serve in the capacity of ministers in churches of the state.

The officers for next year are: Bruce Moore, president; Lavon Fisher, vice-president; Urban Ogden, secretary, and Glyndon Burkhart, treasurer.

Dramatics

Icebound

IN "Icebound", the Dramatic Club found itself assuming a role entirely different from any previous undertaking—a difficult play, not of the type to command the natural interest of the cast as did "Cappy Ricks" and "The Whole Town's Talking". A few practices were somewhat discouraging, and the final dress rehearsal was plainly a disappointment. But at the first performance, May 12, "Icebound" "went over". The plot unfolded smoothly, and the players, with parts most unnatural to themselves, presented impersonations of real merit and eliminated almost entirely the strained tone expected by many.

Geneva Stunt Day

A SYNCOPATED DREAM, a singing and dancing act woven into a background of cleverly worked out ideas, brought Sigma Delta the award of first honors on the annual Geneva Stunt Day program held in the chapel, May 1, and sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Following a precedent set by the better stunts of past years, "A Syncopated Dream" was somewhat long but smoothly executed with interesting ideas. Sigma Delta was not alone in presenting a skit of class, however, for Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta staged novelties only a little less perfect than the judges' choice.

The Whole Town's Talking

THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING caused the Butler campus to talk in praise of one of the most successful plays ever put on by the Dramatic Club. Under the coaching of Professor Rollo Tallcott, the players, picked from fifty applicants, staged a feature production. The scenery was painted by Julia Bretzman; the management was executed by John Metzger; the stage was arranged by Horace Storer, and the laughing was done by the entire audience.

The Piper

As a climax of Butler's sixty-ninth commencement day, Professor Rollo Tallcott coached a whole city into giving "The Piper" on the north campus. The town of Hamelin was built for the setting under the direction of Fred Schulz, and a shrine was made by Julia Bretzman. The large cast with its unique costumes displayed a great deal of talent.

Dramatic Club

THE Dramatic Club, organized for the devotees of the fine arts of the theatre, consists of both active and postulate members. All who pass the tryouts are entitled to postulate membership, whereas active membership is restricted to those who have participated in one of the club's major productions.

During the school year, the Dramatic Club has presented three highly successful plays under the direction of Professor Rollo A. Tallcott. "Cappy Ricks", given at the Masonic Temple on December 16, 1924, was a delightful performance with Helen Pascoe, Fred Schultz and Elmo Richey in the leading roles. The most outstanding presentation, due to its unusual financial, as well as dramatic success, was "The Whole Town's Talking", presented at the Irvington School, March 26, 1925. Parker Wheatley, Constance West, Kathryn Bowlby and Adrian Pierce took the leading parts. The third major production, "Icebound", closed the most successful season in the history of the Dramatic Club. Catherine Cavins and Albert Harker, in the leading roles, played to capacity houses at both performances, May 12 and 13.

The club also held monthly meetings in the evenings at fraternity houses for the purpose of reading plays and exhibiting home talent. Twenty-one members of the organization were initiated on May 13, into Pi Epsilon Delta, national professional dramatic fraternity. Professor Robert Williams of DePauw was in charge of installing the Butler chapter.

Tau Kappa Alpha

MORRIS EDWARDS, national secretary, and Edward J. Hecker, formerly national secretary, were invited guests, April 27, at an initiation and banquet of the Alpha Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha. Robert Finney, '28; Robert Hutchinson, '27; Lawrence Vollrath, '27, and Ferdinand Mehrlich, '27, became members on this occasion. The committee in charge of the ceremony consisted of Lewis Wilson, chairman; Lester Budd and Albert Bloemker. Horace Storer was toastmaster at the banquet.

Tau Kappa Alpha was founded at Butler in 1908, for the purpose of creating student interest in debating and oratory. Today it is a national honorary fraternity with chapters in the leading colleges and universities of the country. Only the very best members of varsity teams are chosen for membership into the organization.

Delta Phi

ALTHOUGH women's debating has been in existence at Butler for six years, Gamma chapter of Delta Phi was not established until June, 1921. With the purpose of maintaining and promoting public speaking, Delta Phi is the only national honorary debating sorority in the United States. Since its membership requirement insists on participation in at least two intercollegiate debates, Butler women have an additional incentive to go out for debating.

Members of Delta Phi were quite prominent in the intramural debating during the past year on the subject, "Resolved, that the several states should adopt a plan similar in principle to the Huber plan of unemployment insurance". It is evident that the organization is an encouraging factor in the development of women's debating at Butler.

Forensic Club

THE Forensic Club was organized in December, 1923, for a two-fold purpose: first, to arouse an interest in debating among the student body in general, and, secondly, to furnish those students sufficiently interested a means of trying out for the varsity teams.

During the two years of its existence, the club has sponsored elimination intramural debates. The winning team has been awarded a silver loving cup each year, and the varsity teams have been chosen from those students participating in the elimination contests.

Although the results, as far as intercollegiate debating is concerned, have not been all that could be desired, the club is furthering the work in such a way that ultimate success is assured.

Woman's League

THE Woman's League of Butler University, established in September, 1924, is the greatest single unifying force that has been developed among the women students. It strives for the promotion of a college spirit, for the maintenance of a high social and moral standard among Butler women and for the support of student activities.

The League has been responsible for the following enterprises: the publication of the Student Handbook, Student Directory and Butler Song Book; the adoption of an activity point system, the foundation of a woman's Building Fund, the obtaining of prominent matinee speakers, the establishment of the four annual class teas, the Formal Cotillion and the annual May Day celebration. Student Budget

PHILANTHROPICALLY speaking, the Student Budget Committee is one of the most liberal organizations on the campus. Since 1922, when it was organized by Edward McGavaran, it has been eliminating some of the numerous demands for money that are made on the students during the school years. The first year, $1,000 was raised; the second, $2,000 and the past year, $1,500. Twenty percent is given to the Y. M. C. A., twenty to the Y. W. C. A., thirty to the general relief and student friendship funds and thirty to an emergency fund for the student body as a whole. Edward McGavaran was chairman of the committee in '22 and '23, Eugene Bushong in '23 and '24, and Victor Twitty in '24 and '25.

A yearly drive is made for voluntary subscriptions from the students and the faculty members. All those who make pledges, indeed, have an opportunity to keep their word and to help a worthy organization to serve some students who are really in need of assistance.

JAMES B. VANDAWORKER

Band

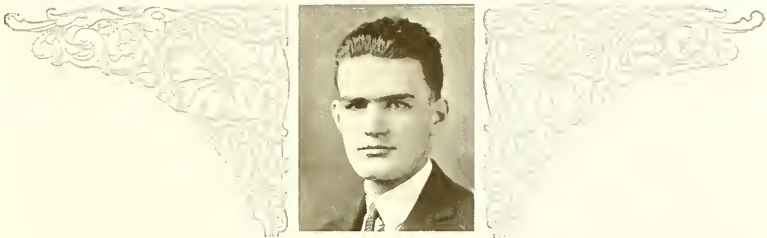

JAMES B. VANDAWORKER, head of the Indianapolis Newsboys' Band, was appointed director of the Butler Band last fall after an absence of five years, during which time he has been instructing newsboys' and high school bands. Mr. Vandaworker was the original organizer of the Butler musicians.

The band has been placed on the same status with other subjects in the University. One hour of credit is given for participation, and Freshmen and Sophomores may elect the course in preference to gymnasium.

Interest in the organization has increased since last fall, and new aspirants have turned out for the musical course. At the Illinois football game of 1924, the band, seated opposite the Illini rooters, sent sounds of fight and Bulldog spirit in the notes of the new "Butler War Song" to the team that was playing against one of the strongest elevens in the country.

George Cornelius and Walter Smith, alumni, are anticipating raising subscriptions among the members of the Butler Booster's Club to equip the members of the band with new uniforms. Indications point to a squad of musicians in full regalia by next semester.

Biology Club

WITH a purpose of stimulating interest in Biology, the Butler Biology club was organized, October 16, 1913. Harry Dietz, now assistant state entomologist, was the first president. After twelve years of activity, the organization can be proud of the large number of its former members who have taken advanced degrees and are now actively engaged in scientific work. Pauline Wolff, M. D., Ph. D.; Anita Muehl, M. D., Ph. D.; Mary Brown, A. M.; Phillip Spong, A. M.; Helen McDonald, A. M.; Vera Kochring, A. M., and David Rioch, M. D., leader of class at Johns Hopkins, were members of the Biology Club.

In keeping with the purpose of the club, a Wood's Hole scholarship was established in 1916, and nine members of the organization have enjoyed the advantage of a summer at this famous laboratory. Earle McRoberts, an Indianapolis physician, had the distinction of receiving the first scholarship.

The present laboratory assistants, Henry Nester and Clarence Jaleski, were sent to Woods Hole. Victor Twitty also attended another noted laboratory at Cold Springs Harbor.

The officers are: Henry G. Nester, president; Victor C. Twitty, vice-president; Evelyn M. Forsyth, secretary, and Rilus E. Doolittle, treasurer.

Chemistry Club

APPLYING Chemistry to commerce, furthering the study of theory and promoting interest in the major science, are the three aims of the Chemistry Club, reorganized, November 29, 1922, after two years in abeyance. The three-fold purpose is carried out in several ways. Members of the organization do research work in the preparation of special papers which they read at the meetings. Several trips are taken during the year to industrial plants where the processes of compounding formulas are actually seen in practical use. Furthermore, prominent physicians and expert chemists in the professional and teaching fields portray to the club many important phases that cannot be obtained in the classroom.

Professor Guy Howard Shadinger, voted the most handsome professor in Butler in the 1925 Drift Popularity Contest, is sponsor of the organization. His experience and knowledge of Chemistry have contributed much first hand information to the members.

The officers are: Clarence Jaleski, president; Leona Kaley, vice-president; Esther Adams, secretary, and Shailer Bass, treasurer.

MARY WINTER, PRES.

Classical Club

THE Classical club, now in its fifth year, is composed of present and former students of Greek and Latin. The growing membership shows the increasing interest in the affairs of another age. The purpose of the organization is to give students an opportunity to study phases of classical life which cannot be touched upon in the class room. These include art, archaeology, political rivalries, public festivals, drama and religious and home life.

The programs are varied and interesting and are often enlivened by Latin songs and pantomime shows of well-known events. Sometimes a Latin or Greek play is produced to delight the members. The faculty members of the Latin and Greek departments are sponsors of the organization. Their informal talks during the meetings promote fellowship between them and the students. However, the annual initiation of new members into the Eleusinian mysteries is the climax of the club's activities.

The officers are: Mary Winter, consul; Florence Fritts, pro-consul; Gertrude Insley, Quaestor, and Pearl Collins, Praetor.

ROLLIN DAVIS, PRES.

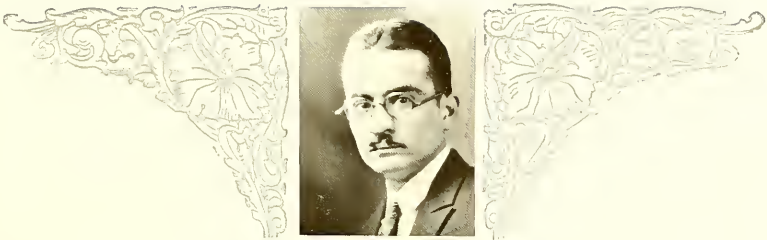

Commerce Club

THE Commerce club consists of two branches, one composed of Butler students, and the other, Indianapolis business men. General headquarters are located on the fifth floor of the Century Building where an employment division will be maintained for the members. The ultimate object of the organization is to conduct an industrial survey, plans for which are now being completed for next year.

The student roster includes the following: Rollin Davis, Fellow Supreme; Lewis Wilson, Fellow Recorder; Joe York, Fellow Councillor; Dean J. W. Putnam, Irving Allen, Chester Camp, Leonard Young, Julius Sagolowsky, Harold Harmon, Albert Thompson, Hugh Kivett, Carl Cecil, Irwin Eagan and Maurice Miller.

General officers are as follows: Earl Beck, Fellow Supreme and Director of Personnel of Eli Lilly & Company; R. N. Phelps, Vice-Fellow Supreme and Director of Personnel of the Link Belt Companies; R. J. Axtell, Fellow Recorder and Office Manager of Eli Lilly & Company; W. E. Teer, Fellow Auditor and Division Manager of the Royal Typewriter Company.

OSCAR C. RIES, PRES.

Student Teachers' Association

THE Student Teachers' Association was organized in the fall of 1923, by those who expect to teach, for the purpose of developing professional spirit and good fellowship, promoting the name of Butler University and bringing its students in contact with educational leaders.

Under the capable leadership of Oscar C. Ries, a well rounded program of speakers and interesting meetings were held during the year. The speakers included George Buck, Principal of Shortridge, who spoke on "The Human Element In Teaching"; J. R. H. Moore, head of the History department of Manual Training, whose subject was "Some Mistakes I Have Made"; G. E. Gill, head of the Indianapolis Employment Bureau, who talked about "How You Look to Your Boss"; Milo H. Stuart, Principal of Arsenal Technical, who discussed "The Individual In a Large School" and Oscar C. Ries, who emphasized "The Relation of Travel to Teaching".

The officers are: Oscar C. Ries, president; Agnes Andrews, vice-president, and Margaret Sherwood, secretary-treasurer. The members of the executive committee include the following: Professor W. L. Richardson, faculty adviser; Dema Kennedy; George Gamble; Louise Padou and Daisy Schulz.

LILLIAN MARTIN, PRES.

French Club

THE French Club was organized at Butler in 1921, under the guidance of Professor Ratti, head of the Romance Language department, for the purpose of giving students an opportunity to speak the French language and to become familiar with the customs and traditions of the people. Since its founding, the organization has been directed by the faculty of the French department.

Meetings are held at fraternity and sorority houses the second Monday of every month, and membership is limited to second year French students having a B average. The try-out system is used, and successful candidates must take part in the programs. Playlets, readings, songs, musical solos and games comprise the entertainment.

After the try-outs are completed, speakers are obtained to give talks on all phases of French life. French festivals, such as the "Twelfth Night" and the "Mardi Gras", are celebrated appropriately. This year the club has sponsored the play, "Le Monde ou L'on L'Ennuie", directed by Miss Martha Kincaid of the French department.

The officers are: Lillian Martin, president; Mildred Medlam, vice-president; Janet Riöch, secretary, and Mary Nussbaum, treasurer.

HENRY G. NESTER, PRES.

German Club

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN, one of the older departmental organizations, was revived last year, and the members entered into the work of the club with enthusiasm. The club has as its sponsor Professor Milton D. Baumgartner, head of the German department. Membership is limited to the students showing proficiency and interest in German, and only students recommended by the German department are eligible for election.

The purpose of the club is to further the study and appreciation of the German language, literature and folk lore. Meetings are held once a month at the homes of members. These meetings are conducted in German in order to acquaint the members with the language. Interesting programs are arranged in which German songs are sung and studies are made of great German classical poets and of modern writers.

Among its activities last year, the club produced "Unter Vier Augen" by Ludwig Fulda which proved quite successful. A similar production was given this year.

The officers are: Henry G. Nester, president; Charlotte A. Reissner, vice-president, and Fred S. Ballweg, secretary-treasurer.

EDWARD TROY, PRES.

Mathematics Club

THE Mathematics Club of Butler was organized in the fall of 1922, with Professor Elijah N. Johnson as the faculty sponsor.

The club holds its meeting in the sorority houses and in room 14 in the Administration Building on the first Thursday of each month. Interesting programs are given by students, by members of the Butler faculty and of the Mathematics departments of other institutions.

Students of the History of Mathematics class read papers. Entertaining talks are given on astronomy and other subjects that are of interest to mathematicians.

The organization is fortunate in having such a man as Professor Johnson for its sponsor. Its members feel sure that, under his guidance and direction, the Mathematics Club will expand and become a permanent factor in the campus life of the "Greater Butler" at Fairview.

ROBERT NIPPER, PRES.

Pen and Pencil Club

THE Pen and Pencil Club made its debut among the clubs of Butler in the fall of 1921. It was founded by Dean Evelyn Butler's Short Story class. During meetings, the members read their own short stories and hold informal discussions concerning them. A further purpose is to create appreciation for high literary excellence and to bring before the club Indianapolis speakers who have attained renown in the literary field. Meetings are held every Friday morning during the class hour. Membership is restricted to the students enrolled in the Short Story course.

The officers for the first semester were: Robert Nipper, president; John Troyer, vice-president, and Barbara Fischer, secretary. Those for the second semester are: John Troyer, president; Joseph Bruns, vice-president, and Gertrude Schmidt, secretary.

VIRGIL V. ROBY, PRES.

Philokurian

TO promote the interest of ministerial students, the Philokurian Literary Society was organized at Northwestern Christian University in 1869. In those days, literary societies held the attention of the students as much as social fraternities do today. Such organizations as the Mathesian, Pythonian, Athenian, Philokurian and Demia Butler Literary Societies met in a professor's lecture room or in a private home to study the arts of conversation, debating and oratory. Later, they secured their own quarters at school where they collected libraries. However, the decreasing interest in literary societies proved fatal to all except the Philokurian, the only survivor of the five.

It is now open to both men and women students in all departments of Butler for the purpose of promoting the literary ideals of the members. The weekly meetings are devoted to literature, debate, open discussions and social gatherings.

The officers for the first semester were: Virgil V. Roby, president; Lena Weitknecht, vice-president; Constance Forsyth, secretary, and Eugene Colway, treasurer. Those for the second semester are: Lewis Wilson, president; Dercas Rock, vice-president; Edythe Hubbard, secretary, and Eugene Colway, treasurer.

LOUISE PADOU, PRES.

Spanish Club

ON October 9, 1923, Professor Joseph G. Fucilla of the Romance Language department, called a meeting of all those interested in Spanish. After organization plans were completed, Scott Ham was elected president of the organization. The name decided upon for the club was the Sociedad Hispanica.

The purpose of the organization is to promote a more fluent use of the language and to better teach the customs of Spanish-speaking countries.

The club meets the second Tuesday night of each month at the various sorority houses. At these meetings, talks are made by speakers acquainted with Spaniards and their customs; songs are sung in Spanish and spelling and definition contests are held. Nothing but Spanish is spoken at these meetings, and the business proceedings are carried on in the same manner.

Membership is limited to those who have had one year of Spanish, either in high school or at college. Due to its interesting programs at each meeting, the club does not experience any difficulty in maintaining a large membership.

The officers are: Louise Padou, president; Avanelle Thorp, vice-president, and Albert Thompson, secretary-treasurer.

OPAL LINDSEY, PRES.

Campus Club

SCHOLARSHIP and residence on the campus are the main requirements for membership in the Campus Club. It was organized in 1922 to promote scholarship, happiness, Butler loyalty and the preservation of the College Residence traditions. During its three years of existence under the sponsorship of Dean Evelyn Butler, the organization has done much to fulfill its purpose.

It gives such social events as a Hallowe'en party, a Christmas dinner, a Valentine party and a coed dinner-dance on St. Patrick's Day. Members of the student body and faculty are always invited to these annual affairs in which a spirit of hospitality and good fellowship prevails.

The officers for the first semester were: Opal Lindsey, president; Lillie Smith, secretary; Rlou Gochenour, treasurer. Those for the second semester are: Hildreth Hall, president; Louise Dingle, secretary, and Mary Nussbaum, treasurer.

Athletics

IT is harder to uphold a reputation than to ever attain one. Butler men have climbed to the top of the athletic world in the past five years. Their spirit has been the dominating factor. The Bulldog is a go-getter and overcomes all opposition. Our men try to play the game just a little fairer than our opponents, if possible. They win though they lose.

We look to the future, as it has much in store. Our dreams are about to come true. Butler athletes are deserving of a memorial at Fairview. The trustees have created a Department of Athletics; the faculty believe in physical education for every one, and the student body, alumni and friends are keen for competitive sport which gives life and punch to the community. With co-operation on all sides, Indianapolis will continue to have home town teams, not only a credit to Hoosierland, but to the Middle West.

"More dynamite," that's what we need! Wake the dead, discard the riff-raff. Seeing is believing. Butler Bulldogs build before being beaten by Backwardness.

H. O. Page

HARLAN ORVILLE PAGE

Pat, for five years, has been building, until today Butler has an athletic machine of which she is proud—one that has competed with the country's best and one that has caused the name of Butler to be flashed from coast to coast.. Too much credit cannot be given him who has proven to his men that power lies in persistency and clean living.

PAUL D. HINKLE

Hink coaches Freshman basketball and football and varsity baseball. He gives the newcomers the fundamental pointers of the game. He is Pat's right hand man, who has trained teams to battle the varsity on even terms. Hink knows baseball from A to Z, and he has largely been responsible for Butler's success on the diamond.

HUGH WALDEN MIDDLESWORTH

Well acquainted with the Page system after four years of training on Butler's football, basketball and baseball teams, Wally took the place of Strohmeyer as assistant coach at the beginning of the past semester. With his ever present fighting spirit, he led the '23 baseball team to a state championship and the '24 basketball team to a National A. A. U. championship.

JUSTUS PAUL

As manager, job hunter and recognizer of athletes, Jut is invaluable to Butler's Athletic Department. He has managed crowds that have packed Irwin Field to capacity, and he has seen that Butler teams have ridden on the best Pullmans and eaten the most nourishing foods. He edited the 1925 Basketball Review.

FRED FELLOWS

When something goes wrong, Fred is the first to receive the complaint. If one desires a towel, hot water, a bandage, a rubdown, new equipment or a kind word, "Heh, Fred" can be heard from one side of Irwin Field to the other. He has won the esteem of every one with whom he has come in contact. He's everybody's pal.

OTTO N. STROHMEIER

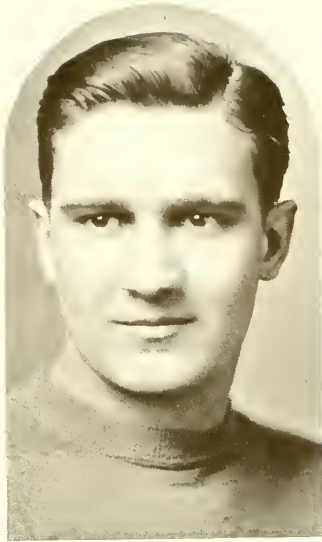

Otto left Butler's coaching staff to go into business. He is a product of the University of Chicago, and one of the best ends ever graduated by the Windy City school. His knowledge of football has been of much assistance to Pat, especially in the scouting department of the game. He also assisted in the other sports.

CAPTAIN GERALD E. WOODS has been one of Butler's outstanding backs for the past four years. He is a crack punter, passer and track man with a side-kick play that drops tacklers in their tracks. In 1923, he was selected as an all-state half-back, and, in 1924, he received honorable mention from Walter Camp. Between halves at the Ohio Wesleyan game, Nig and Hal, his running mate, were presented with football trophies by Butler alumni in appreciation of what they have done for Butler athletics in the last four years.

CAPTAIN-ELECT LOUIS J. REICHEL is the type of player who puts his heart and soul into every play. The fact that he has been placed on several all-state teams is evidence that he is one of the best linesmen in Indiana. He delights in playing floating center and backing up the line. For the past three years, he has been Pat's mainstay in the line because of his uncanny ability to judge plays and stop passes. At Iowa in 1924, some spectator remarked that Butler's best play was Parkin to Reichel.

"Sea Hawk" Leads Plucky Hanover

DISPLAYING a superior, dazzling attack which completely baffled the smaller Hanover eleven, the Bulldogs chalked up a victory over the Hilltoppers. Hanover fought for every inch of ground and held the Butler squad to a 7 to 6 advantage at half time. By substituting continually during the final session, Coach Page managed to keep a fresh combination on the field, and the reserve strength of the Blue and White gave the Bulldogs the long end of a 21 to 6 count.

LOU REICHEL, CENTER

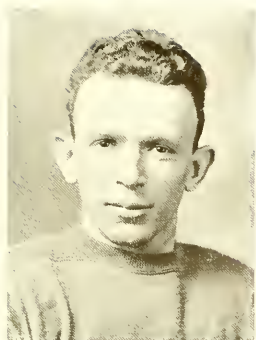

Butler's first touchdown resulted from a fumble by Cox, Hanover's safety man, when Woods booted to him a high spiral that bounced out of his arms. Reichel covered the ball on the eighty-yard line, and Paul squirmed across the goal on the next play. Hanover's tally came in the second period when Cox passed to Manaugh who sprinted forty yards to cross the Butler goal. Cox, however, missed the try for point and failed to tie the score.

Led by George Haugh, the "Sea Hawk," Hanover threatened seriously to take the lead during the third quarter, but fresh players in the Bulldog line offset the fight of the Hilltoppers and paved the way for two more touchdowns by the Blue and White. Woods grabbed a long pass from Griggs to count the second Butler tally. In the closing minutes of play, the local captain snaked through the Hanover defense and dashed fifty yards for the final points of the game. Haugh, fighting Hanover fullback, played one of the most spectacular games ever staged at Irwin Field, and the bloody-nosed "Sea Hawk" bore the brunt of the Bulldog attack throughout the entire game.

Franklin Surprises 8,000 Fans

HAL GRIGGS, HALFBACK

EIGHT THOUSAND fans were perched on the bleachers surrounding Irwin Field when the Bulldog warriors celebrated "Indianapolis Day" with a 10 to 7 victory over the Franklin College eleven. The Baptists came to the capital city with the best football team ever turned out at the Johnson county school. Hal's "Golden Toe" accounted for Butler's narrow margin of victory in the closing minutes of a feature early season game.

GEORGE MULHOLLAND, GUARD

On the opening play, Nig Woods made the contest appear as if it were little more than a Butler track meet. He smashed off-tackle and galloped fifty yards before he was downed by Vandiver, Franklin's safety man. Franklin gridders braced and played on even terms with the Bulldogs during the remainder of the quarter, but in the second period the visitors outguessed the entire Butler team and scored the first touchdown of the game.

Canfield fumbled a punt on his own twenty-yard line, and after a Franklin lineman covered the ball, the invading aggregation suddenly opened up an aerial attack. Red Rohrbaugh dashed around the end, grabbed one of Fuzzy Vandiver's passes out of the air and romped across the goal to score the initial marker of the game.

Holding the short end of the score at the start of the final session, the Pagemen started their famed forward passing attack. Griggs made a spectacular catch of Nig's long toss. Backed by splendid interference, he snaked across the goal line and made the kick from placement to tie the score. Griggs counted the winning points by a perfectly executed field goal from placement.

Grange Is Backbone of Illinois

RED GRANGE and the fighting Illini ran true to form against Butler's grid team in the first game of the Illinois home schedule by drubbing the Bulldog eleven 40 to 10. The Pagemen battled the Suckers on even terms during the second period. Both teams counted ten points, but the Blue and White was completely lost during the opening session. Illinois totaled thirty points against the Bulldogs who apparently were not used to the memorial stadium in which they were playing. The splendid courtesy and sportsmanship of the Illinois student body had not been lost. Amid the mass of concrete of the new stadium, the attitude of the Illini rooters was one of the most gratifying ever received by a Butler team and rooters.

Starting with the initial kickoff of the scrap, Grange ran wild. The big "red-head" dashed around end, plowed through the line, tossed forward passes while on a dead run and in short completely demoralized the Bulldog squad. After the intermission, Griggs booted a brilliant placement kick from the forty-yard line, and the Bulldog pep and fight returned to the Blue and White players who suddenly appeared to come out of a "trance" and play real football. Smashing line plays, spectacular end runs and beautifully executed forward passes carried the ball to within a single yard of the goal.

Superior weight staved off the Bulldog attack and gave the Illini possession of the ball on downs. When Britton attempted to punt out of danger, Paul rushed through the forward wall, blocked the kick and hurled himself on the pigskin for Butler's lone touchdown.

Centenary Blocks to Win, 9-7

UNDER a familiar southern sun, Bo McMillan's heavy Centenary College eleven from Shreveport, Louisiana, invaded Irwin Field on Homecoming Day, October 18, and nosed out the fighting Bulldog aggregation 9 to 7 before a capacity crowd of more than 12,000 enthusiastic Butler rooters. The Southern "Gentlemen" outweighed the Blue and White players more than fifteen pounds per man and took the field against the Page-men with a record unmarred by defeat. After an exchange of punts early in the game, a Centenary back intercepted a pass at midfield, and on the next play, Farrell, visiting full back, tore around Butler's right end for a touchdown. Weaver place-kicked the extra point to give Centenary a 7 to 0 advantage. Fighting for every possible inch of ground, Griggs and Woods crashed through and around the opposing forward wall. At the start of the second quarter, Paul completed the offensive drive by smashing over the goal line for Butler's initial points. Grigg tied the count with a perfect goal from placement.

The Bulldogs were playing splendid ball against their heavier opponents, but superior weight enabled the visitors to batter through Butler's defense and again carry the pigskin to within scoring distance of the Blue and White goal. Farrell attempted to pass over the line for another touchdown near the close of the period. Nig Woods made a leaping one-hand catch to gain possession of the ball. Butler's joy was short-lived, however, for Weaver blocked a punt and forced Nipper to fall on the oval behind the Bulldog goal, giving McMillan's eleven a 9 to 7 advantage.

Pat's Fake Surprises Wabash

WITH the one intention of crossing the Wabash goal line, the fighting Bulldog combination took the field against the Wabash Cavemen and broke through the forward wall of the little Giants for two touchdowns which contributed to a 12 to 0 victory for Butler. Although the Blue and White had won in each of the two previous years, the Pagemen had not crossed the Scarlet goal for nine seasons. Every available inch of space was taken by the crowd of spectators who jammed the bleachers to witness the battle. Battering off-tackle and through the very heart of the Wabash forward wall, the Blue and White attack carried the pigskin to within ten yards of the Scarlet goal only to lose the ball on downs. Singleton punted to mid-field, but the Bulldogs resumed their relentless drive through the Little Giant line. Eight slashes through the opposing defense gave the locals possession of the pigskin on the eleven-yard line. A short pass by Griggs surprised the Wabash backs and enabled Nipper to cross the goal for the first Butler touchdown since 1915.

A cleverly executed fake kick gave the Bulldogs their other tally. With the ball in mid-field, Griggs dropped back as if to punt on the third down. Nipper slipped by the Wabash secondary defense, received a long pass and scored Butler's second touchdown before half time. Wabash started the final session with a powerful punch that had been lacking during the early part of the game, but brilliant defensive rallies, in the shadow of their own goal posts, enabled the Bulldogs to stave off the Little Giant advances until the time-keeper ended the fracas.

GRIGGS TAKES PLACE KICK AND PASSES TO NIPPER WHO SCORES

DePauw Fails to Stop Old Rivals

CARL CECIL, GUARD

COMPLETELY outclassing the DePauw Tigers in every department of the game, Coach Page's blue-clad warriors administered a thorough 26 to 0 drubbing to their ancient rivals from Greencastle. The splendid interference and team work of the Bulldog eleven kept the ball in the visitors' territory continually, and the Blue and White of Butler waved in triumph over the Old Gold of DePauw for the fourth consecutive year.

HIRAM HENSEL, TACKLE

Within five minutes after the starting whistle had sounded, Hal Griggs carried the ball within scoring distance of the Tiger goal when he made fifty-two yards on four consecutive dashes around the wings of the DePauw line. He again attempted an end run, but, when he was tackled, the ball bounced from his arms. Paul scooped up the oval and romped across the goal for the initial points of the game. Griggs and Woods were both taken from the game to rest during the remainder of the period, but the Blue and White continued to menace the Tiger goal. Keach attempted two short placement kicks, but both were wide of the bar.

DePauw had but few substitutes to use in the fracas, and during the final session, reserve strength gave Butler a decided advantage. Hal Griggs counted in the third quarter, and Nig Woods flashed into prominence during the closing minutes of play with two long sprints which both resulted in touchdowns. The Tigers threatened but once. Sturtridge got loose around end to dash to the ten-yard mark before Nipper brought him to the ground. Paul intercepted a pass on the next play, however, and carried the ball to mid-field where the game ended.

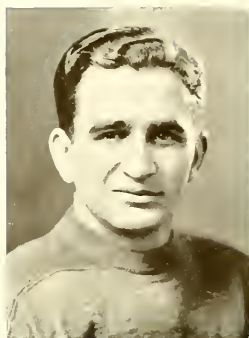

OLD GOLD LINE FAILS TO STOP BULLDOGS

Iowa Applauds Grid Skill of Butler

GORDON PAUL, END AND FULLBACK

CARTER HELTON, QUARTER

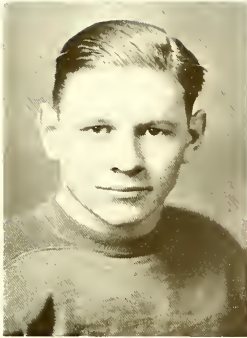

SETTING the dope bucket on end and far surpassing the fondest hopes of the Butler rooters, Pat Page's Bulldog gridgers hopped off to Iowa City and fought the Hawkeyes to a 7 to 0 score. Although the Bulldog eleven was outweighed and minus the services of Hal Griggs during the second period, the Blue and White held the Iowa eleven to a single touchdown and threatened continually to win the game with long end runs.

Iowa's touchdown was annexed in the second quarter. The Bulldogs had made a courageous stand and took the ball on downs on their own four-yard line. Woods punted to the fast-flying Parkin who shook off the Butler tackles before crossing the goal line. The ball was called back because of Iowa's holding. However, Parkin's dash had instilled pep in the Iowa offense. Schirmer received a pass from Parkin, shook off three Butler men and snaked past Griggs and Nipper to score the only points of the game. Griggs dislocated his left shoulder on the play and was forced from the game.

Butler's running attack gained ground constantly. Time after time, Paul, Canfield, Kilgore and Nig Woods, with Reichel running splendid interference, carried the ball from Butler's territory down to the danger mark in front of the Hawkeye goal only to have a costly fumble halt each march. Speaking of the contest, the Indianapolis News said "Butler made a fine impression. It clearly outplayed Iowa throughout the entire first half and in the greater part of the second period. Iowa stands were generous in applause to the Hoosiers."

Wesleyan Easily Defeats Blue

AS a result of the strenuous play at Iowa on the preceding Saturday, a let-down of the season came on the following week when the Bulldogs, playing far below their usual standard, fell before the superior attack of the powerful Ohio Wesleyan aggregation at Irwin Field and were walloped 24 to 0.

The Buckeyes played splendid football and certainly earned the victory, but the Blue and White team had every break against it. In addition, the usually spectacular passing game of the Pagemen was completely swamped by the visitors, largely because Hal Griggs was forced to watch the contest from the bench as the result of a seriously dislocated shoulder.

Pearce, visiting half back, gave the Wesleyan eleven a 3 to 0 lead at half time when he booted a perfect place kick between the uprights after Nipper had missed two tries from near the center of the field. The game belonged to anybody at the start of the final session, but two intercepted forward passes and a costly Butler fumble enabled the Buckeyes to clinch the victory with three touchdowns.

Captain Nig Woods undoubtedly was the outstanding Bulldog player on the field, and he displayed a dangerous running offense. The Butler back carried the ball time after time for long gains around the wings of the Buckeye line. His remarkable secondary defensive work prevented the visitors from completely swamping the Blue and White. Easley and Pearce were the consistent ground gainers for the Wesleyan team.

Indians Get Revenge With Weight

SERIOUSLY handicapped by injuries, the Butler squad took the field against the Haskell Indian aggregation in the wind-up game of the gridiron schedule at Irwin Field, and, as a result, the redskin scalping party crushed the Pagemen 20 to 7 to avenge the defeat handed them by the Bulldogs during the previous season. Nig Woods was on the bench with a cracked rib, and Griggs was nursing a dislocated shoulder that he injured in the Iowa fracas.

RALPH HITCH, GUARD

Because of their superior weight, the Indians crashed through the Blue and White line continually during the initial period and carried the ball to within a yard of the Butler goal. A brilliant defensive rally enabled the locals to punt out of danger, but a well-organized open attack of the Indians again took the pigskin within scoring distance of the goal, and Colby, redskin fullback, skirted around the left end for the first touchdown. In the second half, brilliant defensive play by the Butler linemen again stopped the Haskell rushing game. However, the visitors opened up with an aerial attack, raising the score to 20 to 0 when Levy and Kipp scored another touchdown apiece.

During the fourth quarter, Coach Page revised his entire lineup, and the revamped team carried the ball straight down the field with a dazzling line-plunging attack and an occasional short forward pass. After Nipper took the pigskin to the sixteen-yard line, Gordon Paul hit the opposing forward wall on four consecutive plays and plowed across the line for Butler's only touchdown.

CAPTAIN HALDANE A. GRIGGS, center and senior member of the squad, has been a big point getter for the Bulldogs during the past four years. During this time, he has been given a place on practically every all-state team. In 1924, when Butler won the national A. A. U. title at Kansas City, Hal was the high point man of the tournament. He was placed on the mythical all-American team.

Butler Basketmen Win 20 Out of 24 Games

HAL GRIGGS
CENTER

BUTLER'S basketball squad won twenty of twenty-four regularly scheduled contests during the past season and finished as runner-up for the state college basketball championship, which was won by the Wabash netters, who finished the season without losing to an Indiana opponent. The Bulldog netters made a brilliant showing against the leading teams of the Middle West by defeating four out of five Big Ten conference opponents and winning all games against out-of-state teams, with the one exception of the Ohio State contest at Columbus, Ohio. The Buckeyes nosed out the Blue and White by a narrow margin in this tussle, and then started a string of victories which carried them to undisputed claim to the Big Ten Conference championship.

The Blue and White basketeers started the season with an easy victory over Manchester College at the Butler gym. Wakefield, sophomore flash from Ben Davis, gathered twenty-one points and enabled the locals to finish on the long end of a 50 to 25 count. Christopher, another star sophomore forward, teamed with Wakefield in the second contest, and Butler downed Earlham 40 to 30 when the two second year players gathered twelve field goals and four free throws. With two early-season games safely tucked in the victory bag, Coach Page and his fighting Bulldogs started a Big Ten Conference invasion, which clearly proved Butler's supremacy on the hardwood.

After riding all night and part of the following day, the Pagemen dropped off the Pullman at Iowa City and drubbed the highly-touted Hawkeye aggregation, 26 to 22, in one of the fastest contests ever staged at the Iowa camp. Early on the following morning, the Bulldogs again boarded the rattlers for Madison, Wisconsin, to clash with the University of Wisconsin in the evening. A terrific blizzard tied up railroad traffic during the greater part of the day, but the Pagemen reached the Badger stronghold just in time to take the floor against Dr. Meanwell's famed short-passing combination, which had tied for the conference title the previous year. Worn out from the long ride, Butler started slow, but gradually warmed to the task, and nosed out the Northerners, 22 to 18, in another spectacular struggle. Marquette bowed to the Blue and White on the following night, and the Bulldogs returned with three more scalps hanging on their victory belt.

DAVE KONOLD
CENTER

In the most thrilling contest ever staged for the benefit of the local backers, the Butler squad clashed with Illinois on the following week-end at Tomlinson Hall, and brilliant work by Nipper and Christopher gave the Pagemen a 24 to 22 advantage. Chicago fell before the attack of the Pagemen, 22 to 17, but Ohio State proved to be the stumbling block. The Buckeyes rushed into an early lead and finished the contest on the long end of a 34 to 29 count. Vanderbilt University, one of the strongest teams in the South, dropped two games to the locals when Dave Konold "got hot." Earlham also fell before the Butler attack in a return game at Richmond.

Butler faltered momentarily in two important games with Hoosier opponents, and Wabash and Franklin both came to town and returned to their respective camps with the long end of the scores, 22 to 19 and 22 to 17. Both games were hard fought, and Butler led practically all of the way in each contest, only to be nosed out in the closing minutes of play. Bob Keach and Jerry Strole came to the front in the Notre Dame contest and enabled the Irvington team to crash through the Irish for a top-heavy, 31 to 16 victory. Lombard, Dayton University and the Blue Diamonds of the Kansas City A. C., all took the short end of the score, and then the Pagemen started a final drive for the state net title.

The locals invaded the Baptist camp and crashed through for a decisive, 29 to 16 victory, as the result of brilliant work by Captain Griggs and Pug Colway, who completely smothered the Franklin sharpshooters. Nipper and Griggs made possible Butler's high score by uncanny basket shooting from all corners of the floor. Butler's title hopes failed to materialize at the last moment, however, when Pete Vaughan's Scarlet-clad warriors played host to the Bulldogs and defeated the Pagemen 35 to 31 in another "feature" tussle. Inability to connect with the basket prevented the Bulldogs from winning this final game, and as a result the Little Giants nosed out the Pagemen in the state title race.

Captain Hal Griggs was far from his usual form at the start of the season, but brilliant work in the closing games of the schedule more than made up for this fact. Pug Colway, the only other senior letterman on the squad, played an unusually consistent game at back guard during the entire year.

CAPTAIN GLENN GRAY

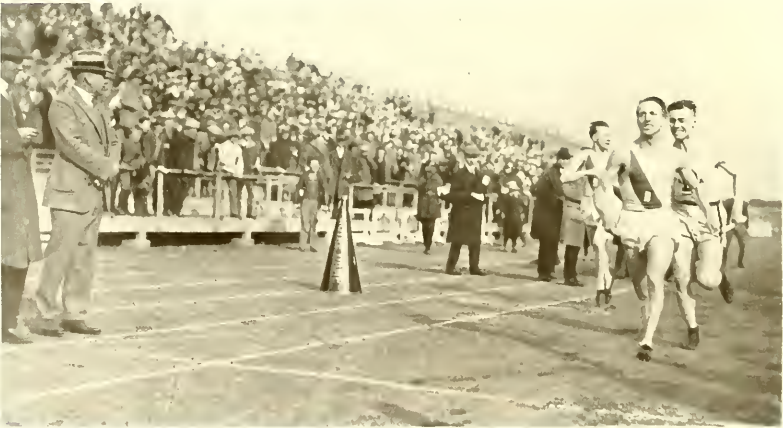

Captain Haldane A. Griggs, Senior, hurdler, shot putter, broad jumper, discus and javelin thrower. Hal is the greatest all-round athlete in the State of Indiana and one of the most versatile in the Middle West. Making and equaling records and carrying off high point honors have been his performances for the past four years on the cinder paths and in field events. He is Butler's only four-letter man since the days of Cully Thomas.

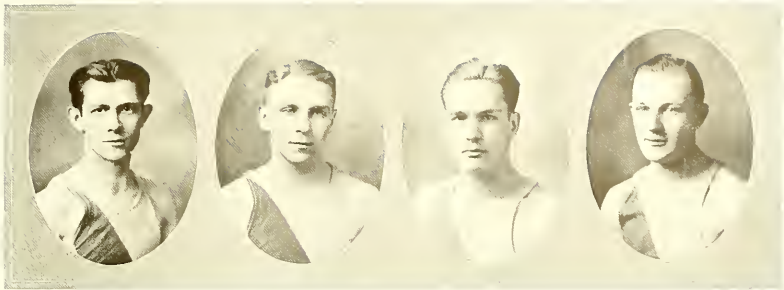

Captain Glenn A. Gray, Junior, leadoff or anchor man of the record-breaking relay team and joint holder of the 100 and 220-yard state records. Glenn has been in the foreground of Indiana cinders for the past six years, both in high school and college. During the 1925 season, he led his team in the most successful year in Butler's track career. Last year he went to the finals in the Olympic trials at the Harvard Stadium.

Ex-captain Gerald E. Woods, Senior, hurdler, high jumper and broad jumper. Nig has been a point getter for four years. During the past season, he jumped to prominence at the Rice Relays at Texas and the Penn Games at Philadelphia. His leaps were better than twenty-four feet for a first at both places. He also placed third in the high hurdles at the Penn Relays.

David B. Kilgore, Junior and leadoff member of the relay team. Dave is Pat's war horse. When he leads off, he gives the Bulldog quartet a good position with his fight and weight.

GRAY STARTING LAST QUARTER OF MILE RELAY

Rilus F. Doolittle, Senior, member of the United States Olympic team and distance runner. Rilus holds the record for the two-mile run in the Big Ten Conference and in the state. He did not get a place in the International Games, but he made a creditable showing against the stars of all nations, including Nurni and Ritola.

Brewer W. Graham, Junior and pole vaulter. Brewer tied for first place in the state meet in 1923. In 1924, he was a consistent point maker.

Fremont W. Snyder, Sophomore and handsome distance runner. Fremont has never won a first place, but he has contributed quite a few points to Butler's totals. He was a member of the medley relay team of 1924 which won at Drake.

Carl W. Huber, graduate in the Class of 1924, half-miler and member of the 1924 relay team. Carl helped to win the relay event in the state meet at Notre Dame last year.

DOOLITTLE WINNING 5,000 METER OLYMPIC FINALS AT ANN ARBOR, MICH.

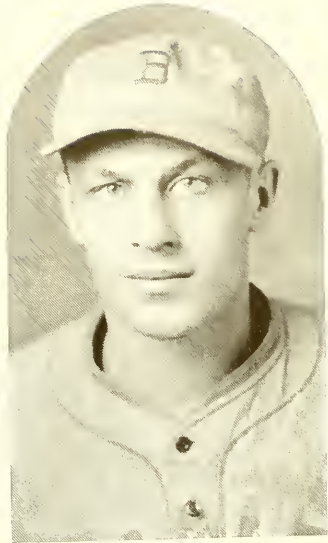

Scott Ham, Senior, member of the relay team and low hurdler. Scotty alternates with Kilgore on the mile quartet. Thirty-two degrees in Masonry kept him out of some races this past spring, but he hit his old stride before the season closed.

Handly W. Caraway, Senior, half-miler and member of the relay team. Handly puts the punch into the crack relay squad. In a recent race, he held back at the finish to let a teammate finish first—because the latter had an opportunity to be high point man.

John T. Northam, Sophomore, sprinter, broad jumper and member of the 1924 relay team. John holds the state high school record for the broad jump. He runs a close second to Gray in the dashes. In 1924, he was the best broad jumper on the Blue squad.

FIRST ROW—Mills, Reichel, Welborn, Staton, Blessing, Middlesworth, Goett, Jones, Nipper.

SECOND ROW—Strole, Griggs.

THIRD ROW—Fellows, Cecil, Keach, Hinkle, Slaughter, Thornberry, Page.

TOP ROW—Woodling, Ewing.

Ex-captain Henry O. Goett, graduate in the Class of 1924, shortstop and catcher. Heiney was captain of the team in 1922. He played short for three years and catcher during his Senior year. He has been one of Pat's diamond mainstays since his Freshman year.

Captain Richard Mills, Junior and shortstop. Dick has been captain during the past season. His size and ability to hit make him the best lead-off man on the team.

Ex-captain Robert Blessing, Senior and third baseman. Bob led the team last year from the hot corner. He was home-run king of the squad. He played with the Indians last summer and is now with the Senators.

Hugh Walden Middlesworth, graduate in the Class of 1924 and outfielder. Wally was captain in 1923 when Butler won the state championship. He is now teaching Pat's system to the Freshmen.

HEINEY RECEIVING PITCH TO CATCH CHICAGO RUNNER

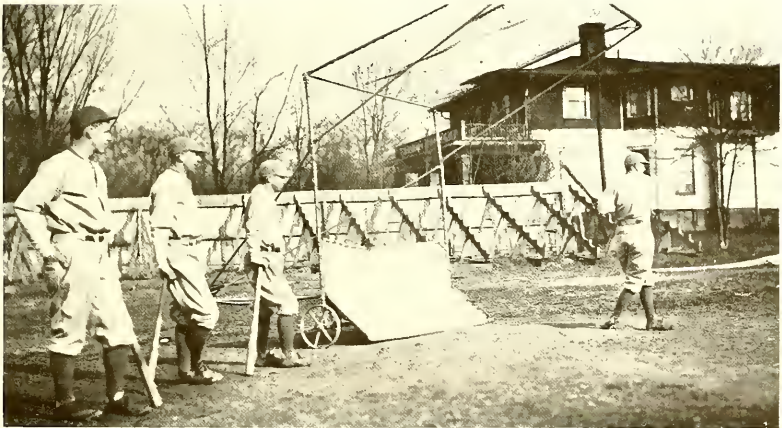

Robert L. Nipper, Junior and second baseman. Bob is not a dazzling performer, but a cool, consistent fielder and hitter. His fielding was among the best in 1924, and his batting has been one of the features of the past season.

Carlyle Ewing, Junior and pitcher. Carlyle was an alternate pitcher during his freshman and sophomore years. However, during the 1925 season he filled Glen Staton's shoes in a creditable manner. He defeated Robinson of Wabash, who had never lost a game during his college career, 3 to 2, in the pitcher's battle.

Robert J. Keach, Junior and outfielder. Jim is a heavy hitter and comes through when hits count. With the bases full in the tenth inning of the Wabash game at Irwin Field, May 1, he singled to win the game.

Haldane A. Griggs, Senior and outfielder. Hal can play any position on the team when called upon. He demonstrated his pitching ability on the recent southern trip. He is one of the heaviest hitters and the best pegger on the squad.

BATTING PRACTICE ON IRWIN FIELD.

James Elwood Slaughter, Sophomore, pitcher and outfielder. Slaughter did not return last season. However, he was a good hitter and moundsman in 1924. He saved the day in the state championship game with the Little Giants in 1923 by pitching air-tight ball in the last four innings.

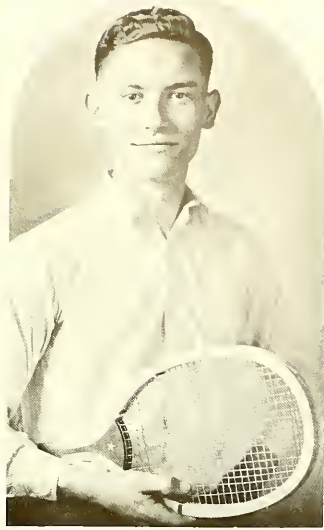

Lundy Earl Welborn, graduate in the class of 1924, and outfielder. Lundy was a leadoff man and a heavy hitter. He coached for three years at Wilkinson before he completed his last year on the Bulldog diamond.

Paul Jones, graduate in the Class of 1924 and first baseman. Dizzy, because of his size, has made many bad pegs count for outs. He came through with the bat in his senior year.

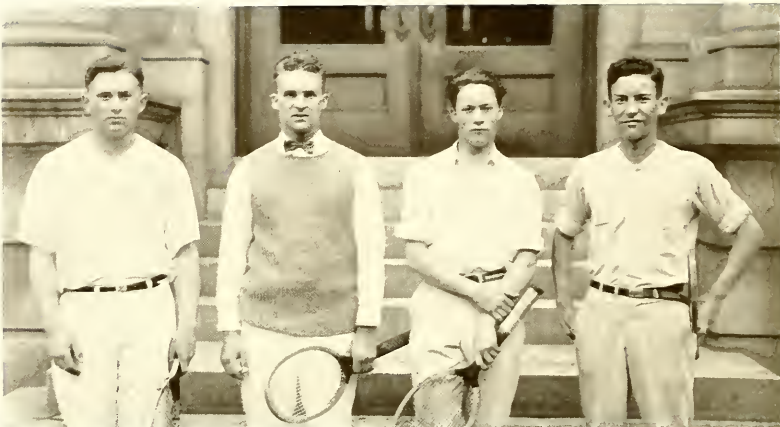

Glen O. Staton, Senior and pitcher. Jake was Butler's pitching ace from 1921 to 1924. He has probably won more games for Butler than any other one man. He was also a good batter, but he did not receive a letter last year.

JULIUS SAGALOWSKY and Leo Kurzrok, Butler's tennis aces, finished the most successful season in the history of the school by winning the state doubles championship, May 31, 1924, from Donovan and Centlivre of Notre Dame in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3. Sagolowsky lost to Donovan in the finals for the state singles championship.

The pair also flashed to prominence when they traveled to the semi-finals of the Western Conference meet at Chicago last year. Sagalowsky went to the singles finals but was defeated by Wilson of Chicago.

Wally Richards and Val McLeay were the other two members of the squad which performed in stellar style all season. The quartet won forty and lost only five sets out of nine dual meets. Illinois defeated the Blue four sets to two, and Notre Dame captured one set.

Last Minute News—Chicago, May 23.—Sagalowsky and Kurzrok of Butler won the Western Conference doubles championship here today. Kurzrok defeated Sagalowsky for the singles title.

Delta Phi Sigma Defeats All Basket Contenders

GOING through the entire season without a single defeat, Delta Phi Sigma basket tossers fought an uphill battle to defeat the Phi Deltas in the final game, 28 to 23. The Lambda Chis made a strong bid for the right to meet the leaders but fell before the Phi Deltas prior to the finals. The majority of the games were evenly matched and the scores were close. However, the feature attraction of the Interfraternity League was the second half of the game between the Phi Deltas and Delta Sigs. Trailing 14 to 7, the winners, with every player a star, scored from all parts of the floor to win in the last three minutes of play.

AFTER playing Delta Phi Sigma to a scoreless tie, Lambda Chi Alpha came through in the final game with a brilliant brand of football to defeat the Sigma Nu petitioners by an 18 to 0 count. Paul McNorton, by his terrific line plunging, was the backbone of the Lambda Chi offense. He plowed through the mud and hit every Delta Phi Sig player for gains. Morris and Talbert showed up best for the losers, especially in the last minutes of play when the Delta Sigs reeled off first downs in fast order, to be stopped five yards from the Lambda Chi goal as the game ended.

Women Athletics

DOROTHY STEPHENSON, P.F.S.

W. A. A.

THE Woman's Athletic Association was organized in the spring of 1923 for the purpose of promoting school spirit and interest in physical education. Miss Louise Schalmeyer, director of women's athletics, brought the idea to Butler after attending a national conference of W. A. A. Sue Harmon and Dorothy Stephenson have taken an active part in the development of the organization which is now a member of the national W. A. A. Recently they attended a meeting of W. A. A. at Bloomington where delegates gave reports of the national conference held at Berkeley, California.

Last fall a point system was put into effect by which a girl, who shows athletic ability, may win three awards—a W. A. A. pin for 400 points, a monogram for 700 and a sweater for 1,000. One hundred points entitles one to membership provided fifty additional points are made each year.

FIRST ROW—Sue Harmon (Secretary), Lillian Martin (Treasurer), Dorothy Kemp.

SECOND ROW—Dorothy Patterson, Dorothy Avels, Katherine Hall, Lucille Lugar (Vice-President).

LOUISE SCHULMEYER, DIRECTOR

Varsity

THE highest honor that a coed athlete can attain at Butler is to make the mythical basketball varsity, selected by Miss Louise Schulmeyer at the close of the inter-class games. One hundred points are awarded to each member of the team on the basis of ability and sportsmanship. The squad is composed of Miriam Fay and Dorothy Kemp, forwards; Lillian Martin, jumping center; Sue Harmon, side center; Louise Padou and Augusta Bowerman, guards; Audrey Owens and Helen Moffet, substitutes.

A second team was also chosen, and each girl on this squad received seventy-five points. The team includes: Catherine Dodson and Margaret Robinson, forwards; Dorothy Avels, jumping center; Katherine Burgan, side center; Maude Searcy and Lucille Lugar, guards; Leeffe Worth and Margaret Hunt, substitutes.

Zeta Taus Capture Schulmeyer Cup

ZETA TAU ALPHA netters copped the 1925 intersorority basketball championship and the Schulmeyer trophy for which the Tri Delts and Independents were fighting. Both teams had won it twice. The Zeta Taus, besides winning seven out of eight games, scored 111 points. The next best record was made by the Independents with eighty-seven. Because the series took up much valuable time, there will be an elimination system in effect next year in order that more time and interest may be devoted to the inter-class games.

Tri Delts Win First Volley Series

INTERSORORITY volleyball, which was introduced at Butler in the spring of 1924, was met with much interest and enthusiasm. Because the game is less strenuous than basketball, an opportunity of enjoying athletics and profiting by physical exercise is afforded every girl. During the period when two teams, consisting of eight members, are fighting for twenty-one points, there is as much suspense and excitement as there is in a football game.

The Tri Delt team, composed of Margaret Waters, captain; Lillian Martin, Dorothy Stephenson, Dorothy Avels, Thelma Carter, Louise Padou, LaVern Bishop, Josephine Osborne, Maude Searcy, Mildred Foxworthy, Edythe Hubbard, Margaret Haldy and Eldena Meier, defeated the Alpha Delt squad in the finals, 21 to 11 and 21 to 6 for the championship and the silver cup. Neither finalists had lost a game during the tournament.

THE BATTLE IS ON

W. A. A. Sponsors Point System

ACCORDING to A. C. A. C. W., of which the Butler W. A. A. is a member, inter-collegiate competition is prohibited. Heretofore a varsity team had been chosen after the completion of the intersorority series, and games with other colleges and outside teams were carded. But this year, as outside competition was abandoned, all the interest was centered within the school in the interclass series.

Miss Schulmeyer selected a Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior team of the most capable players in the sorority league. A six-game series was then played, and each class team tried to prove its superiority over the other three. As a result the Sophomores out-classed their rivals and won the series.

These games were the closest ever played at Butler, and the rivalry was so intense that much excitement was manifested. The Sophomores had to exert themselves to the utmost to defeat their competitors and attain the honor of being queen of the hoops. Good sportsmanship and keen interest were displayed throughout the tournament.

Fifty points towards W. A. A. credit were awarded to the participants.

For attaining 700 points since the establishment of W. A. A. at Butler, the following received monograms: Sue Harmon, Pat Carver and Lillian Martin. For earning 400 points W. A. A. pins were awarded to Pauline Ingalls, Sue Harmon, Louise Padou, Dorothy Kemp, Dorothy Avels, Catharine Dodson, Lillian Martin, Pat Carver, Mildred Stockdale and Dorothy Stephenson.

CULVER GODFREY, PRES.

Interfraternity Council

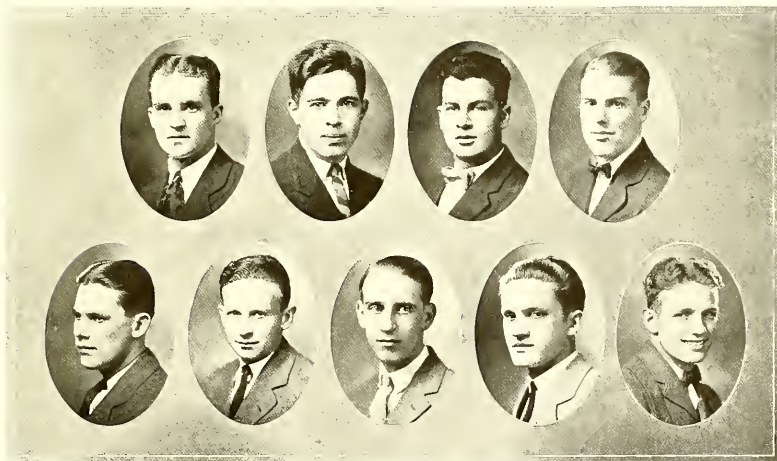

ALTHOUGH only five years old, the Interfraternity Council is one of the leading organizations on the campus. It strives to regulate rushing, raise scholarship and prevent lifting of pledge pins. With such a close contact with one another, the group members are able to promote fellowship, school spirit and co-operation among themselves and to solve problems that arise every day in fraternity life. However, the Council's main purpose is to serve Butler.

It sponsors Interfraternity football, basketball, baseball, track and horseshoe pitching. Next year it will award a scholarship cup to the fraternity that makes the highest average.

Two representatives are selected by the fraternities that are members and meetings are held semi-monthly at the various chapter houses. The Council is at present composed of Phi Delta Theta, Delta Tau Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha, Tau Kappa Tau and Delta Phi Sigma.

Pan-Hellenic

THE Butler Pan-Hellenic Association was organized in 1914 to unify the interests of the women's fraternities, to regulate rush conditions and to promote a feeling of good fellowship and democracy among fraternity girls. The Association today is composed of a Senior, Junior and Alumna representative from each of the ten women's Greek letter organizations. It meets the first Monday of each month at the various chapter houses.

The offices are automatically held each year by the representatives in the order of their fraternity's establishment at Butler, namely: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Delta Theta, Delta Zeta, Alpha Chi Omega and Alpha Delta Pi.

Indiana Law School Is Ideally Located

AS the location for a law school the city of Indianapolis has no superior in the country. Nowhere has the student better opportunities to watch the progress of all sorts of litigation in courts of all grades. All of the courts of the State of Indiana, from the Supreme Court down to that of the lowest jurisdiction, and also the United States Circuit and District Courts, are in almost continuous session here during the school year. The value to the student of the knowledge of court procedure to be thus secured can hardly be placed too high. He not only learns routine court work, but he learns, also, the manner of cross-examination of witnesses; he sees the practical application of the rules governing the admission of evidence and the methods of its introduction; not only this, but the student is thus afforded opportunities to observe and study the trial methods and styles of argument of prominent lawyers from all parts of the country as they are brought here by litigation in which they are interested.

The classes may attend the open sessions of the Supreme Court, where they are greatly interested and instructed by the oral argument of some of the ablest lawyers of the country.

Indianapolis presents the advantages of city life without the drawbacks of a city of the largest size. The cost of living here is low, although it is the seat of great professional and commercial activity. The litigation arising in the different courts is of the most varied character, and involves the most diverse business interests, and the student may thus acquaint himself with business methods as well as court procedure.

DRIFT

Indianapolis, April 9, 1925.

*Thomas F. Smith,
Editor 1925 Butler Drift,
Butler University, Indianapolis.*

Dear Tommy—

It is with pleasure that I announce the completion of the advertising section of the 1925 Drift and submit it to you for approval.

May I state that it has been a source of great pleasure to be associated with you in this capacity, and although it has required an enormous amount of time and energy and the burning of the proverbial midnight oil, it has been a fascinating endeavor to contribute my share to the most worthy activity of Butler.

I wish it were possible to make a personal appeal to every reader of this Drift, with the thought of strengthening his attitude toward those fine men of business who have assisted us so materially in the publication of this book. I have instituted a novel means of acquainting the student with the advertiser by the solution of a popular cross-word puzzle, to which we will give the winner a copy of the 1926 Drift.

Any suggestions which you may have that will bring about a closer relationship between the advertiser and the student will be appreciated. May I take this last opportunity to thank you for your able assistance? Hoping that the success of the 1925 Drift will be thus achieved, I am

Yours for the future Butler,

Winston Riley

Advertising Manager 1925 Drift.

“CASH IN” ON A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

A LIVE AND THRIVING DISTRICT ADJACENT TO NEW BUTLER UNIVERSITY

In every growing city there are certain lands and lots located where they make the purchasers Large Profits because these property investments are located directly in the path of important development.

CEDAR CREST — NORTH BUTLER TERRACE — MUSTARD WOODS

Public appreciation of the present opportunity has been great. It is plainly foreseen what excellent increase in value will be realized by present buyers. The city's grand boulevard system for the district, together with building the new college, insure these profits. However, many who definitely plan to have their home adjacent to New Butler have not secured information about the trend of property values there; yet the fact is known to many that remaining available NORTH BUTLER TERRACE, CEDAR CREST and MUSTARD WOODS homes and home sites become scarcer with each passing month. Fully two-thirds of the platted property clear north to the canal line and adjacent to New Butler on the east has already been sold. Our Building Service to lot purchasers is complete. We sell you the lot, we furnish the plans, build the house and finance the deal. These four services AT the cost of one. Your investigation is invited. Write or call for literature. Active development makes early inspection desirable. It will be to your profitable advantage

He went to Bloomington and brought her back in his rented car; entertained her royally for two days; took her to every game, show and dance within a fifty-mile radius, and introduced her to everyone of note in Butler. SHE, in return, did him the great honor of allowing him to be the first to hear of her engagement to a fraternity brother.

Tomorrow's Citizens

Famous for its farms and factories, Indiana has not neglected the welfare of its future citizens while building up its industries.

Butler University, located here in Indianapolis, plays an important role in this great educational system. It is a plant that pays priceless dividends of broad knowledge and high citizenship.

As education develops it calls for better facilities for communication. The telephone, itself the product of many scientific minds, is used most widely where education is most general.

Character

TO certain individuals who achieve success honorably, we ascribe that indefinable attribute, character. The inherent qualities of those individuals are also possessed by certain publications.

Editorial excellence gives The Indianapolis News character. Impartial judges rank it among the great newspapers of the Nation. Since 1869, The Indianapolis News has striven to be, first of all, a great newspaper. Its columns reveal its character.

The Indianapolis News

STUDY THE INDIANAPOLIS NEWS AS A NEWSPAPER

Ex-officio Members of Drift Staff

THE Drift would be incomplete without a word of recognition to the ex-officio members of its staff. The book is indebted:

To those who refused to subscribe early in the year when their money could have been a great help in getting discounts for paying bills in advance;

To those who forced the staff into a long subscription campaign in order to sell enough copies to make the Drift possible;

To those who had their pictures taken after a dozen or more requests;

To those who do not purchase a book because they think it is too high—yet spend several times the price on dances and social functions;

To those who accuse the editor and business manager of making a neat income when the circulation pays for little more than half the cost of publication;

To those who say the Drift is a bunch of graft and that the editor is a terrible guy for spending a thousand hours or more on such a worthless enterprise;

To those who have found fault with everything in connection with the book, who refuse to cooperate to make it the kind of an annual they want and who borrow one to see how many times they can find their pictures.

Such boosters have made the task of publishing the 1925 Drift easy and delightful.

COLLEGE and High School Annuals have come to be recognized as an institution. Year by year they are growing in importance and number. They are growing, too, in beauty and character, so that many high school annuals now excel the books issued from colleges a few years ago. In this advancement we have had no small part. For more than twenty-five years we have been helping create representative annuals for schools thruout the middle west and south and thru our helpful co-operation have won a position of recognized leadership among annual engravers. Last year three of our annuals won four first and second prizes in state and national contests—a testimonial to our service of which we are proud. This is one of 154 annuals, published in eleven states, that bear the Indeco imprint this year. Not content to rest on laurels won we have worked out plans to make our service to 1926 staffs more helpful than ever. Editors, business managers or faculty advisors are invited to write and give us opportunity to explain how Indeco Service can help them publish the best annual they have ever had.

Last Piece of Copy

THE last piece of copy for the 1925 Drift has gone to press. Countless hours have been spent in its making. If it has fallen short in its purpose of recalling the Butler of Yesterday, portraying the Butler of Today and visualizing the Butler of Tomorrow, the staff only hopes that it will not be a discredit to the Institution for which it was published.

To the members of the staff who have willingly contributed their time and ability, to the Indianapolis Engraving Company who has done superfine work collaborated with efficient service, to the Northland Studio who has more than gone out of its way to satisfy students with photographs of character, and to Barnes, Gault & Company who has added a personal touch to every page that it has printed, I am deeply indebted.

May the Butler of Tomorrow be the Butler of Today in a few tomorrows!
